4,314 Students Registered In Kingston Schools

Total Is 61 More Than Last Year—In the High School There Are 108 More Than Last Year—Plans for Addition to High School Sent to Albany—Dr. Michael's Report.

Although one of the public schools of the city has the same number of students registered as last year and three have a slightly smaller registration still there are 61 more registered in the city than last year which was a record. In the high school there are 108 more registered than last year. The total number registered to date is 4,314.

With the exception of the high school and at No. 5 school all of the students have been cared for in good shape. At No. 5, where the registration is 19 less than last year there is some congestion due to the fact that there is a falling off in the lower grades but an increase in the upper grade. In order to take care of this situation the room now used by the principal will be taken over as a class room and 25 desks installed. Authority to make this transfer of some students was given by the board of education Friday night when the board approved a request for the purchase of 25 additional desks. At the high school the condition is similar to last year and little relief will be had there until next year when a twelve room addition will be completed and ready for use. That addition will give the high school a capacity of between 1,400 and 1,500. The attendance now is 1,203.

With Trustees Beeres, Terry, Walter Mathews and President Flemming present the business of the evening was completed in short order. The August pay roll amounting to $3,457.90 which had been audited and paid during the summer vacation was ordered entered and bills amounting to $9,414.27 were ordered paid.

Repairs Completed.

Trustee Beeres for the building committee reported that repairs authorized to be made during the summer vacation period had been completed at all schools except at No. 2 school where new toilets were being installed. Under the contract the time for completion of that work was September 15 and the work will be completed on time. The matter of having the high school steps repaired was being cared for by the building committee. When the main entrance steps were erected at the time the building was put up no center piers were placed in the steps and consequently the steps had sagged and finally given way. Center supports are being placed under the heavy steps and this work will shortly be completed.

Plans Sent to Albany.

Plans for the addition to the high school were on display and Mr. Beeres stated that they had been sent to Albany some time ago for approval of the State Department of Education. As soon as they were approved he asked authority for the building committee to advertise for bids on the general contracts. This does not include the plumbing or heating. In order that the work might be under way as soon as possible the board gave the necessary permission to solicit bids and have them presented at a subsequent meeting to be opened by the board.

As prepared the plans for the addition to the high school call for two wings to be erected at the rear of the building on the two wings which project from the upper and lower sides of the building. Each new addition will have six rooms. In addition the improvements this year call for the erection of a two-story factory construction brick building on the northwest corner of the lot where the present frame machine shop is located. This building will be 40 by 86 feet in size and will house the manual training classes, carpenter shop and will also be used for the part-time school. At present the carpenter shop is located in the main building and with its removal to the new building there will be additional space available in the high school building for additional lunch room or other needs.

Superintendent's Report.

Superintendent Michael filed the following report in regard to school conditions at the present time, after which the board adjourned.

To the Board of Education.

I respectfully report that the schools opened on Tuesday, September 3, with the absence of two teachers at No. 3 school and one at No. 6 school on account of illness. Substitutes were put in their places. The teacher at No. 6 has recovered and was at work on Wednesday.

In parallel columns I present the registration for September, 1928, and September, 1929. The figures in each column were taken at the close of school on Thursday, the third day after the opening of school.

The registration at the high school is 108 more than last year; the total registration in all schools is 61 more than last year.

We are experiencing some difficulty at the high school in arranging for classes and class rooms. We hope, however, by the beginning of next week that the work of the high school will be following its established routine without interruption.

The buildings have been thoroughly cleaned and are in excellent sanitary condition.

The inside painting at No. 2 which was not finished last year is now completed and the interior presents a most attractive appearance. The work on the new toilets in this building is progressing satisfactorily and it is hoped that they may be ready for use on or before the first of October.

The skylight over the second floor corridor of School No. 4 is a great improvement in the lighting of that part of the school building.

The plans for the enlargement of the high school are practically completed and awaiting the approval of the State Department of Education. It is hoped that such approval will be secured to the end that work may be commenced on or before October first.

Poem Blamed For 6 Murders

Chicago, Sept. 7 (AP).—A poem, one of those maudlin, sobby bits of barroom doggerel, was held responsible today for six recent murders.

Frank Vercove, saloon hanger-on, was the one who recited the verse. He was the first to die. Clifford Riley, Billy Clifford, Thomas McElligott, Cy Cawley and Edward Westcott followed.

It was last spring in Madigan's saloon in Cicero. Vercove, with a reputation as an entertainer, had the floor. He began recitation of the poem—a dramatic thing each verse of which ended in the line, "You coward."

Vercove may have had too much to drink. Police believe it highly probable. He became theatrical. Every time he came to the line "You coward" he pointed his finger at Billy Clifford.

Time after time Vercove did this. Suddenly Clifford snapped a pistol from under his shoulder and shot the old man dead.

That was the story police heard today. They learned, too, that Vercove, while pretty much of a derelict, had one very good friend—a man powerful in underworld affairs. This man was not present when Vercove was shot, but it did not take him long to learn what had happened.

A short time afterward Clifford and his pal, Riley, were found shot dead in an automobile behind a Cicero hotel. And not long after that Thomas McElligott got a bullet through his heart. He was a close friend of the slain Clifford.

On Thursday of this week Cy Cawley and Edward Westcott were put on the spot. These two, like McElligott, were aligned with Clifford and were natural enemies of the "Big Shot" who was Vercive's friend.

Six men dead over a poem, police said; a poem that probably wasn't so swell, at that.

ULSTER VEGETABLES AND FRUIT FOR NEW YORK

Truckloads of fine peaches, pears and grapes from nearby fruit growers, and loaded trucks with cabbage, tomatoes, carrots, beets and other garden truck from the vicinity of this city have been seen passing through Kingston streets for the past week. Daily for some time many very large motor trucks loaded with cauliflower in crates on the way from Delaware county for the New York market pass over Broadway to the Rondout creek bridge.

Ambulance Calls Here.

The city ambulance this morning removed Mrs. Ada Miller from 7 West Strand to the Kingston Hospital. On Friday the ambulance removed Frank Brown of St. Remy road to the Kingston Hospital; Mrs. Lillian Fox from 30 Ponckhockie street to the Benedictine Hospital and Peter Carney from 43 Cedar street to the Benedictine Hospital.

Our Growing Population.

The following births have been reported to the board of health:

Mr. and Mrs. Ira A. Burgher, 68 Liberty street, a son, Bruce Ira, at Kingston Hospital.

Expect Extended Period of Unrest

Jerusalem, Sept. 7 (AP).—Open admission has been made by persons closely in touch with the situation in Palestine that although the British government has matters firmly in hand an extended period of unrest requiring large forces of troops may be expected.

Although the country has grown noticeably more peaceable during the last two days there were continued reports of minor disorders and clashes between British troops and Arabs, and between Arabs and Jews.

Ten Bedouins were killed in a skirmish which followed their discovery by British troops in the Esdralon Valley. The Bedouins were said to have been engaged in looting the Kear Tabor Colony.

Despite official statements that the reports were without confirmation there persisted rumors of fights between British soldiery and Bedouins near Gaza. In the vicinity of the Colony Kastinia, sixty Arabs with two sheiks were arrested on suspicion of having participated in the destruction of the colony.

Authorities continued their roundup of those deemed responsible for the recent clashes. Special courts have been established in accordance with the proclamation of the high commissioner, Sir John Chancellor, consisting of British members of the administration, not necessarily judicial officers or persons with previous judicial experience.

In one sense the battle has changed from one of swords and rifles to one of words, with Jews and Arabs exchanging mutual recriminations, while preparing the best possible cases to present the coming commission of inquiry.

On one point the Arabs and Jews agree, that is, in holding the government responsible for lack of foresight regarding the present emergency. The Arab leaders make it plain that Palestine never will enjoy peace and prosperity without the presence of strong military forces unless some safeguards are given the Arabs that they won't be driven from the country by the commercial penetration of the Jews.

Freed from Well After 42 Hours

Ottumwa, Iowa, Sept. 7 (AP).—Wilkins Priest, imprisoned for 42 hours in a caved-in well here, was released at 6:07 a. m., today. He cried for water as he was brought on a cot to the surface by a shaft which workers had started yesterday morning.

Workers had toiled incessantly since Thursday morning when Priest was buried under rocks and sand when the curbing of the 35-foot well crumpled while he was cleaning it.

"Water," gasped Priest as he was carried on a cot through the 30-foot shaft which rescuers had sunk after it was found impossible to remove the debris from the well. Although his voice was weak, his eyes were open and he apparently was rational, despite his trying ordeal.

Dr. D. L. Rater made a hasty examination at the shaft, but was unable to determine the extent of his injuries. It was feared his legs were paralyzed by the pressure of the debris.

Claims Pay For Propaganda In Favor Of Ships

Naval Expert Sues Three Large Shipbuilding Corporations for $308,885, Claiming He Acted as Their Agent in Opposing Navel Reductions.

Washington, Sept. 7 (AP).—President Hoover is determined that the present negotiations for naval disarmament shall not be obstructed by the activities of shipbuilding corporations peculiarly interested in the construction of American vessels of war.

Revealing that he had asked Attorney General Mitchell to determine what action is open to the government, the Chief Executive late yesterday called upon three large shipbuilding corporations for explanations of their positions with respect to allegations made by William D. Shearer, a naval expert, in a suit for compensation, that he acted as their agent in opposing naval reductions at the Geneva conference in 1927 and elsewhere both before and after that time.

The three corporations—the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation, the American Brown Boveri Electric Corporation and the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company—are defendants in a suit instituted by Shearer on August 22 in the New York supreme court, claiming $308,885 compensation for services from December 10, 1926, to March 27, 1929. He says that of this sum he already received $51,230.

In response to the President's statement, the Newport News Shipbuilding and Dry Dock Company last night issued an emphatic denial of the Shearer charges through Homer L. Ferguson, its president, and asserted that it approves of Mr. Hoover's disarmament policies. E. G. Grace, president of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, termed Shearer's suit "wholly without merit", and said the Bethlehem Shipbuilding Corporation would promptly comply with the President's request for a declaration as to Shearer's allegations.

Shearer himself said he was entirely willing to appear before a congressional investigating committee, and added that "there is much that is unknown that I can tell about this case when the proper time arrives".

In connection with his suit against the three corporations, Shearer has said that during the period of his alleged employment he wrote articles, interviewed public officials and press representatives and delivered addresses in support of a big navy. He was in Geneva at the time of the unsuccessful disarmament conference of 1927 and has been a familiar figure at the capitol at times when naval legislation has been pending.

President Hoover denounced Shearer's methods in no uncertain terms and asserted that unless the companies involved are able to show "an entirely different situation from that which is purported in this suit, we are compelled to consider what measures can be proposed to free the country of such influences."

The Chief Executive conceded to every American the right to engage in open propaganda, but he went on to say that "it is obviously against public interest for those who have financial interest in, or may be engaged in contracts for the construction of naval vessels, to secretly attempt to influence public opinion or public officials by propaganda in favor of larger armaments and attempt to defeat the efforts of the government in world limitation of such armaments or to employ persons for such purposes."

STRANGE FISH SHIPPED TO LISBON AQUARIUM

Oporto, Portugal, Sept. 7 (AP).—A strange fish caught at the Port of Leixoes, and shipped to the Lisbon aquarium, is puzzling experts who are trying to identify it.

The fish, which was seen floating on the harbor waters, was brought ashore alive. It is more than nine feet long and has six fins—two abdominal, two pectorial and two dorsay—with five rows of gills. Its head reminds one of that of a rhinoceros while the body is like that of a huge tunney. It has teeth on the lower jar and its mouth when opened measures 27 inches in diameter.

Fishermen say they have never seen anything like it before, and believe that dynamiteing of a wrecked steamer outside Leixoes drove the strange creature to the surface.

England Wins Schneider Cup

Atcherley Makes Record of 332.49 Miles Per Hour—Fastest Any Human Being Ever Traveled.

Ryde, Isle of Wight, Sept. 7 (AP).—With her aviators speeding up to 332.49 miles per hour, and setting a new world's record with an average of 328.63 miles per hour for the Blue Ribbon Schneider Cup race, Great Britain today successfully defended the trophy against Italy in the tenth anniversary of its running. Flying Officer H. R. D. Waghorn, on a supermarine Rolls Royce S6, set the new Schneider cup course record with an average of 328.63 miles an hour, surpassing the previous record of Lieut. Webster of Great Britain in 1927 by 47.14 miles per hour.

Flying Officer R. L. R. Atcherley, on a machine identical to Waghorn's, surpassed the world's speed record of his comrade on one of his laps and set a new one with a mark of 332.49 miles per hour, the fastest time ever made anywhere by man.

Waghorn had previously made 331.10 miles per hour in one of the laps around the Solent course.

Some confusion was created after the race by the announcement that Atcherley was disqualified for the race when he failed to pass around a pylon marking one of the course points.

But later announcement made plain that the world's record of 332.49 miles per hour would stand, because Atcherley twice made it. The first time was on his fourth lap and the second, equalling it, on his seventh lap.

It was officially stated that the disqualification, while eliminating Lieutenant Atcherley from the Schneider cup race, would not affect his time on his seventh lap.

Italy, her best pilot killed and her fastest plane destroyed in a test flight accident, was overwhelmed. Warrant Officer Tomas Dal Molin was the only one of her three entrants to finish and his average was only 284.20 miles per hour over the course.

Lieutenant Rano Cadringher and Lieutenant Giovanni Monti, both flying Macchi-67's, were forced out of the race. They made forced landings unhurt while traveling at high speed.

Kingston Post Is Again Third

Local Drum Corps Awarded Third Place in Competition at State Convention at Utica—Schenectady Wins First and Albany Finishes Second.

The American Legion Drum Corps of Kingston Post was awarded third place in the competition of American Legion Drum Corps held in conjunction with the state convention at Utica on Friday. First honors were captured by the Schenectady Post, while Albany Post won second place. Schenectady was given a rating of 196.25 out of a possible 200 points; Albany had a rating of 195, while Kingston finished third with a rating of 191.25.

The judging was on playing ability, marching, maneuvers, cadence, uniformity of equipment and neatness. The competition was held previous to the parade. It was the second year that Kingston had been awarded third place.

Ten thousand former war nurses and service men took part in the big parade that followed the competition and the parade was viewed by fully 100,000 people who lined the sidewalks along the line of march. A sweltering sun poured down on the uniformed ranks during the more than three hours that they passed in review. A fleet of airplanes dotted the skyline while the procession was underway.

Snow in Rocky Mountain Region

Denver, Col., Sept. 7 (AP).—With no relief in sight and snow falling in Denver and other points in the Rocky Mountain region, the threat of winter today assumed a degree of certainty. Temperatures ranging from 24 to 39 degrees, the lowest in this region at this time of the year in four decades, were reported.

Havre, Mont., reported the temperature there was 24 degrees. At Kalispell, Mont., it was only four degrees higher; Yellowstone Park, 30; Helena, Mont., 34, and Denver, 39.

Weather bureaus throughout the region forecast a continuation of the unseasonable cold, issued frost warnings, and predicted snow in some sections.

Leadville, Col., reported surrounding mountains were topped with snow; Pike's Peak was under an inch blanket and a snow plow was employed to clear the cog road to the summit. The auto road up the Peak was blocked.

The earliest snow in 28 years at Lander, Wyo., disrupted power and communication lines and demoralized traffic.

Fourteen inches of snow was reported in the Fox Park district in Southern Wyoming. Albany, Wyo., in the same region, was under a foot of snow.

The cold spell and premature snows extended from Montana on the north to the Colorado-New Mexico line on the south.

Search Two Desolate Regions For Air Liner

Scour Widely Separated Areas in Southern California and Old Mexico—Doubt Section Foreman Saw City of San Francisco—Tribal Superstition Hampers Efforts.

Winslow, Ariz., Sept. 7 (AP).—Two desolate, widely separated regions—one in southern California and the other in old Mexico—today commanded the attention of searchers for the lost air liner City of San Francisco.

Southern California searchers seized upon an unconfirmed report that a tri-motored plane, flashing its lights on and off, was seen over the Providence Mountains, seven miles north of Bagdad, at 6 p. m., Tuesday.

The report, coming through Santa Fe railroad offices and quoting James L. Shooks, a section foreman, said the plane appeared to have been losing altitude. Shooks declared the plane passed from his sight and apparently landed, but that he was not sure. The sound of the motors ceased, he said, but whether the engines stopped or whether the plane had gone beyond his hearing he was unable to say.

Some doubt was expressed by searchers that Shooks had seen the City of San Francisco. They thought he may have sighted one of the planes which flew over the area near Bagdad Tuesday afternoon hunting for the wrecked racing craft of major John Wood.

Several points in the report, however, aroused the searchers to action. So far as known, no tri-motored plane participated in the hunt for Wood's ship, and little if any flying was done over the Providence Mountains in the search for the racer.

It was pointed out that the missing air liner, piloted by J. B. Stowe, had a six-hour supply of gasoline when it left Albuquerque and that the time noted by Shooks was about six hours after the plane left the New Mexico city for Winslow on its way to Los Angeles. The air liner had a cruising speed of 110 miles an hour. Bagdad is about 500 miles west of Albuquerque as the crow flies.

Searchers believed that inasmuch as Stowe did not land at Winslow he might have reached as far west as the vicinity of Bagdad before exhausting his fuel. The plane was last seen at Grants, N. M., somewhat off its course and heading southward dodging a storm.

Two planes from Colton, Cal., were assigned to fly over the Providence Mountain area on the strength of Shooks' story. Shooks said he had been in the desert for several days and did not know that the air liner was missing until he saw newspapers yesterday.

Superstition Hampers Efforts.

Tribal superstition which forbids Indians to touch a human body, was said to be hampering the efforts of hunters afoot. They declared that the work of Indian runners and trackers had not come up to expectations because of the growing belief that the occupants of the sky liner would be found dead—a thought which seemed to be sapping the enthusiasm of the Aborigines.

Offers of rewards—now totaling $10,000—appeared to mean little to the Indians. They were reported soliciting wages for their services in guiding parties across the New Mexico lava beds.

Unless definite indication of the plane's whereabouts develops today, every able bodied man in Gallup was expected to join in the hunt. Business houses there were canvassing their lists of employes for possible recruits.

The spectacular hunt started intensively in the Black Rock wash district of New Mexico, southeast of Gallup, has widened to include most of the varying, but uniformly rough and forbidding territory from below the Mexican border almost to the Colorado and Utah state lines on the north and from Gallup and Columbus, N. M., on the east to Winslow and Grand Canyon, Arizona, on the west.

The great irregular area includes some of the wildest uncharted country on the continent. Portions of it never have been explored, it was said.

Chester R. Hall Has Good Record

Chester R. Hall, who has been associated with the Kingston Y. M. C. A. for the past eight years, has accepted a position as executive secretary of the Cumberland County Branch of the Portland Y. M. C. A., and leaves Kingston on September 14 to assume his new duties.

Mr. Hall came to Kingston from San Antonio, Texas, as boys' secretary. Under his energetic leadership the membership and the activities of the Boys' Division increased and became a recognized part of the city's work with boys.

His outstanding work has been with the high school boys, in a group that is known as the Hi Y Club, which was organized in 1921, with a membership of eight. Today there are over 80 boys on the rolls of the club. The service that this group has rendered to their school and to the community has been a real credit to the association. The Hi Y Deputation Team has contributed largely to the success of the club and is well known throughout the county, having conducted services in over thirty different churches in the towns and villages of Ulster county.

The Pioneer group, the Friendly Indians, the Bible Class groups, Educational clubs, and many other activities for the younger boys have been successfully promoted, and have served their purpose in the building and developing of character in the members of each group.

The Scout Troop of the "Y" is well known. It has captured three first place trophies during the past season, and has brought the name of the "Y" real credit. Last Fourth of July, without an adult leader, this group went to the rally held in Saugerties and won first place in the contest. This speaks well for Mr. Hall's organizing ability.

Probably one of the outstanding features of Mr. Hall's work was his conferences with boys. He always had time to talk with them about their problems and to aid them in their plans. Many boys have been able to go to college because he has helped them to get in touch with scholarships and scholarship funds, while others will tell of help they have gained by a quiet chat on the real problems of life.

Last fall the people of the county asked the local association to release Mr. Hall to help them with their boys' work in the county. This the "Y" did, securing Mr. Rivers to take over Mr. Hall's work with the boys of Kingston. During the winter months, Mr. Hall traveled over the county, meeting with groups of boys and organizing them into groups to be of service to the younger boys. He also rendered service to the churches and the schools that was appreciated by all.

It is with a deep feeling of regret on the part of the boys that Mr. Hall has severed his connection with the local Y. M. C. A. and is to leave the city. As a boy recently stated to his parent, "The boys of Kingston have lost a friend."

ARRESTED FOR HUNTING DUCK OUT OF SEASON

The Kingston game warden arrested two men for hunting duck out of season, hunting without licenses and hunting on protected property at Whiteport Lake. One of the men was unable to pay the fine imposed and was held.

Whiteport Lake, owned by George Hall and W. L. Burnett, is located about three miles southwest of Kingston and has been posted for the past three years.

President to Make Tour in October

Washington, Sept. 7 (AP).—President Hoover has decided definitely to leave Washington toward the end of October.

The chief executive hopes to visit the newly constructed locks on the Ohio river, making a trip on board a river packet from Cincinnati to Louisville. He is also thinking of attending the opening of the Edison laboratories at Detroit, a tentative date for which is October 21.

The trip also may include a visit to the southwest to be present at a celebration commemorating the Gadsen Purchase. In that event Mr. Hoover may visit several cities in Texas.

All details for the tour however, still are to be worked out.

Flashes of Life Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press.)

New York—The Princess Miguel DeBraganza is now probably the richest American woman with a title. The will of her father, William Rhinelander Stewart, leaves her two-thirds of his residuary estate. She had previously inherited large sums from James Henry Smith, her mother's second husband, from Jean H. E. St. Cyr, her mother's third husband and from her mother herself.

Rio De Janeiro—On December 21 next, the anniversary of the landing of President Hoover in Brazilian soil, a painting depicting his visit will be presented to him. The government has commissioned an artist.

Trenton, N. J.—Lawrence Maynard, who once wrote bad checks and is now in prison for burglary, is a successful author. Several of his short stories, written in his cell, have been published in magazines. Efforts are under way to obtain a parole. He has found that it is much easier to work than be a crook.

Atlanta, Ill.—Henry Ford buying on the installment plan? Yup! He gave Wesley Shaffer, itinerant merchant, $10 down on a 20-year-old popcorn machine. The second and final installment now paid, was $190. The machine cost $20 new.

New York—Dolores Del Rio, who has arrived from moviedom, wants the world to know that she is not engaged to Teddy Joyce. "No indeed," she smiled. "Teddy and I are just friends. Of course I saw him in Pittsburgh. I stopped off to see many friends there."

Schenectady, N. Y.—Commander Byrd in the Antarctic will hear some man-made lightning tonight. The sound of a bolt of 5,000,000 volts, recorded on film in the General Electric laboratory, will be radiocast by WGY at 10 p. m., standard time.

Paris—It has been so hot lately that the city's supply of beer has gone. Cafes have signs up that there is no more.

Greene, Me.—There has been so little water that they have had to use vinegar to fight fire. Barrels of it were poured out and pumped on blazing buildings.

New York—One A. J. Wisch of Denver wired Mayor Walker offering to bring rain and cool weather to the metropolis within 84 hours for a paltry sum of $200,000. The mayor's reply was: "Eighty-four hours too late."

Calumet "Mixing Bowl" Defies Dry Enforcement

Wholesale raids in the Calumet industrial district of northern Indiana indicate the difficulty of enforcing prohibition in that "mixing bowl" of nationalities. Raleigh P. Hale (left), mayor of East Chicago, is held for dry law violation, and E. O. Johnson (right), candidate for mayor of Gary, once was convicted under the dry law.

By WALTER BROWN

(A. P. Feature Service Writer.)

East Chicago, Ind., (AP).—Outlawing the spiritus frumenti in the Calumet industrial district, mixing bowl of half a hundred nationalities, is one of the most severe tests of prohibition enforcement.

The last wholesale roundup by government officials entangled in the net the mayor of East Chicago, the chief of police, a prominent lawyer and more than 100 persons of lesser importance, grading down to the foreign tongued laborer who couldn't pronounce his boss's name.

The mayor, Raleigh P. Hale, free on $20,000 bond, is a candidate for re-election next November, and on the same Republican ticket in the neighboring city of Gary is R. O. Johnson, who served a prison term for dry law violation during a previous mayoral term.

Both Johnson and Hale should win, as the Calumet cities are top-heavy Republican, unless a trial before November 5 would remove Hale from the ballot.

The industrial belt in Indiana, stretching from the Illinois line through Whiting, East Chicago, Hammond and Gary, not only is a thorn in the side of prohibition enforcement, but it is a burr under the saddle of the Republican state organization.

With its almost half a million mill workers it offers a block of votes that political managers, bosses, ward heelers and precinct candidates—and of course, candidates, want and fear. Downstate Indiana can almost be overturned by the Calumet vote. There is no sympathy of interests; no similarity of aspirations; no likeness of background between the two sections of the state.

The last general prohibition onslaught in the Calumet was directed by Oliver M. Loomis, new federal district attorney of northern Indiana.

The previous wholesale dry foray was in 1922 and centered upon Gary. Mayor Johnson, the county attorney, other city and county officials and scores of civilians were arrested. Johnson, after a year at Atlanta, was pardoned by President Coolidge, and came back last spring to score a decisive primary victory.

Prohibition agents, immigration agents, deputy United States marshals, and other federal arms as well as municipal and county forces have repeatedly reached into the Calumet to "clean it up."

"You can't eliminate vice and liquor in East Chicago," was the cry of Mayor Hale, and it was echoed in other cities.

District Attorney Loomis says he can, and will.

Reception was not so strong Friday evening as it was Thursday and WGY seemed badly blanketed the entire evening. It was also more difficult to tune out interfering stations. Our good DX station was WLS, but, as usual, the best station was WLW, free from fading, strong and clear.

WGY was weak again this morning.

Thrifty, Lying Americans?

About one-half of the homes in the United States are owned by men with incomes less than $2,000. So, after all, this thing of saying Americans are not thrifty is based on imagination instead of facts. We guess that about 99 per cent of what we Americans say is untrue. We have developed into a race of liars, we regret to say.—Litchfield Globe.

Stripes Accent Novelty Jerseys Developed in Frocks

THE WOOL DRESS IS SMARTLY ENTRENCHED.

New York—One is inclined to smile reminiscently over the not so distant days when the wool dress was regarded as hardly likely to make the grade sartorially. It has been definitely proven that women will wear wool—and like it. The different varieties in the shops today speaks well for the imagination and ingenuity of the woolen manufacturer. The choice not only includes plain but figured woolens in a wide range of colors, the most important of which are red, violet, green and brown.

Recognition of the natural waistline is peculiar to wool as well as silk dresses, and self and contrasting belts are both approved. Suede belts, some as wide as four inches are smartly introduced to help create the desirable high waistline.

Three and even four piece ensembles continue to be shown but the wool dress need not necessarily have a matching coat or even jacket. Fine jersies remain in vogue and combinations of jersey with tweed are acclaimed. Tuck-in dresses with short, and often contrasting jackets are effective for either town or country wear.

The wool dress is cut on more generous lines than formerly, its skirt is both longer and wider, the flare or released pleat being usually at a low line.

Fascinating little tricot turbans and berets are logical and entirely satisfactory companions to such a wool costume.

Oxford Gray, With Rayon in Silver Tone, Fashions the Novelty Jersey Cut in the Jumper of the Next Frock, Which Again Adds a Touch of Red as Relief. The Scarf Is Pearl Gray, Appliqued With Black and Red.

Black, Gold, and Beige Combine to Form the Broken Motif Bands Which Decorated the Blouse of the Third Model, Alternately Striped Narrowly With Orange. The Foundation Is Wool-and-Rayon Mixed, of Beige Shades and Black.

OUR DAILY PATTERN

A Pretty Afternoon Frock

6542. Chic is reflected in this pleasing style. As pictured printed silk was used in a small floral design in black on a white ground. Collar and belt are of white crepe, and the tie bow, which may be omitted is of black velvet. One could use silk all wool tweed, or printed linen. Flat crepe is also suggested. Asymmetric lines are featured in the yoke of the skirt, above which the waist blouses slightly. Groups of tucks at the shoulders create pleasing fulness. The sleeve may be omitted, as pictured in the small front view.

The Pattern for this dress is cut in 6 sizes: 34, 36, 38, 40, 42, and 44 inches bust measure. To make a 38 inch size with sleeves will require 4 yards of 39 inch material. Without sleeves 3¼ yards will be required. For collar and belt of contrasting material ½ yard 39 inches wide is required, cut crosswise. To finish with bias binding as pictured in the large view will require 4 yards 1½ inch wide. The width of the dress at the lower edge with fulness extended is 3 yards.

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 15c in coin or stamps by the Pattern Department, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

ELEANOR GUNN ON FASHIONS

THE TAILORED TOUCH FOR VELVET OR NOVELTY WOOLEN FROCKS.

New York—Although the dressmaker type has been accorded greater publicity this season than mannish types, there is no denying the fact that the tailored line is too deeply respected to be ignored. The fall wardrobe to be consistent, must contain its quota of tailoring. It must have a jacket costume and a light weight woolen dress or two as well as a silk or velvet frock with which this is interchangeable. These may be fashioned of printed velvet, or of novelty silk among which moire, figure or plain, faille and heavy crepes stand out.

That the jacket costume may be supplemented by a top coat, makes it a rival to the one or two piece dress. Such dresses cover the knee to a depth of from three to five inches, the coat being shorter in the majority of instances. This is usually true of the flaring skirt, whether it attains its fullness by a circular treatment or by pleats or godets. The uneven hem is more of a daytime than evening feature, jackets and skirts dipping in some cases.

The use of flat furs must be emphasized in connection with all street costumes while fox borders evening gowns in some collections. Astrakan is the highlighted fur, brown on black is repeatedly seen, while white lamb or caracul on black is extremely chic.

A Semi-Tailored Afternoon Dress is Developed in a Heavy Silk Plaid Faille, Having Red and White Stripes on a Deep Green Ground. The Stripe Is Used on the Diagonal in the Skirt, Which Is Circular in Front, and Again in the Two Narrow Belts Appliqued at the Top of the Hips.

One of the notable printed chiffons being worn by clients of Ytob is a red and white moire design with amusingly cut lower skirt—The knotted sash recalls the fichu collar. Rita

KINGSTON, N. Y., SEPT. 7, 1929.

THE LAND OF DOLLARS.

No wonder emigrating Europeans look upon the United States as a "land of promise" (of dollars). Marvelous indeed is the continuing increase in our business and wealth. In 1860 the foreign trade of this country for the year was $687,000,000 and now it exceeds that amount in a month, the total for last June being no less than $749,000,000. The estimate for the year's total by the Assistant Secretary of Commerce runs above ten billion dollars.

Although we have our poor and great numbers in but very moderate circumstances, there is widespread participation in the country's prosperity. This is shown by the savings bank statistics and by the fact life insurance outstanding in the United States has reached the enormous sum of a hundred billions, more than eighteen billions in new policies being written in 1928. The astonishing assertion is made that American life policies now in force are actually double the total reported in 1922. Another indication of this country's amazing economic expansion is to be found in the estimated $8,000,000,000 of new investment securities subscribed for in our markets during 1928.

When two smart, bad young fellows held up the car in which Elinore Bauman, a 21-year-old Detroit girl, was riding, she got mad. The nerve of such kids, to point their guns at her and demand her purse! She wouldn't have minded so much if they had been grown up. Her reaction was prompt and effective. She jumped out of the car, and proceeded to attend to the lad who was devoting special attention to her. She slapped his face, grabbed his gun-hand and tried to wrest the pistol from him. She would have succeeded, too, if the second young desperado hadn't come to his partner's rescue. As it was, she left her marks on his face, and raised such a rumpus that the thug left her and her escort and fled in dismay. "They should have been spanked", says Elinore. Indeed they should. Early and often, perhaps. But a little spanking in time may save a good deal later on. In lieu of spanking, however, face-slapping on occasion has its good points. It should be used oftener on bold, bad boys.

The Nationalist government is complaining now that the rest of the world is not treating China right. The argument is that the government deserves sympathy, not criticism. Critics in other countries promptly inform China that she has only herself to blame. Even American opinion, usually friendly to China and friendly to the Nationalist revolution, is being alienated. And this is mainly the result of the absurd Chinese news censorship. The world wants to know about China. It wants to know good and bad alike. The Nationalist government is determined that the world shall know only the good, and insists on using its own judgment as to what good is, and how it shall be presented. The censorship grows more and more drastic. Outside nations know less and less what is occuring in China. They naturally suspect the worst.

R. C. Graham and W. A. Granger of Bellingham, Wash., have just seeded the latter's 140 acre farm on Lummi Island. It took them one hour and 40 minutes. They used about 800 pounds of alfalfa, timothy, clover and orchard grass. No, they are not super-farmers. They are merely modern. They used an airplane. Graham drove the plane and Granger dropped the seed in a stream through a door in the cockpit. Sifting down through the air, it scattered itself uniformly and effectively.

According to report in many sections of Baltimore little boys and girls are sitting high up on "poles" for days at a time in emulation of a professional flagpole sitter who exhibited there. The strangest feature of the "epidemic" is the encouragement of the rival children by their parents, and even by the Mayor, on the ground that they are displaying American grit and stamina, notwithstanding medical opinion to the effect that they are injuring their health.

Prof. T. E. Gregory, a scholarly Englishman, has confessed (before our Institute of Politics) his astonished discovery that this country is not nearly so rich as Europeans believe it to be. Presumably he did not see our Secretary of Labor's open letter to a European correspondent some time back in which he made a plain statement of the same fact.

According to a French newspaper as much as 200,000 francs is paid every day in Paris alone to soothsayers, fortune-tellers and astrologers. No doubt the skeptic is more frequent than the believer among the patrons, even the former being willing to pay the fee in order to listen to impressive talk on the most interesting subject in the world—himself.

Almost in one breath Grover Whalen, New York's police commissioner, pictures that city as phenomenally law abiding and accompanies his request for 3,000 additional policemen with the opinion that 8,000 more will be needed in the near future. Optimism tempered by foresight.

Whatever the situation may be in England, the talk about the "drift" toward war between the United States and Great Britain seems to interest few Americans outside of our navy and army circles. To the average man it seems too incredible—and senseless—for serious attention.

READ SIGNS THAT HELP.

Road signs advertising various articles are often so attractive that they have been called the poor man's gallery.

Sometimes you like the idea of the sign itself on the highway or the article it advertises, and at other times you do not, but a striking one that is of interest to everybody reads something as follows.

Are you losing weight?
Do you tire easily?

You naturally think that some special article of food, or some special remedy is to be recommended.

But the advice is "These two conditions are the earliest signs of tuberculosis, so see your doctor and let him examine you".

As you know tuberculosis usually shows other signs such as an afternoon temperature, "night sweats", cough, and expectoration.

In addition to making the examination the doctor usually has an X-ray picture taken which further helps him to get an idea of the amount of trouble in the lungs.

And then after a period of rest and treatment in a sanatarium the patient is thought to be "cured" and is about to leave for home.

Before doing so he is put on some exercises daily and the effects of this work or exercise is watched closely.

In the majority of cases he stands the exercise well and is allowed to go home.

However another test has been added during the past two or three years that is of great help in this matter of exercise.

It is called the sedimentation test, that is the length of time it takes the red corpuscles in the patient's blood to sink to the bottom of the vessel into which some of his blood has been drawn.

In a normal person it takes two hours or more. In a "dangerous" case of tuberculosis it takes but thirty minutes.

If then the red corpuscles in the blood of a patient thought to be cured take less than two hours to sink, his exercise is forbidden or greatly reduced.

In patients still under treatment, the amount of time it takes for the red corpuscles to sink gives an exact idea of whether or not they are improving.

This test, with the other tests, helps to put the treatment of tuberculosis on a safe basis.

Unbreakable Glass

The bureau of standards says that in general non-shatterable glass is of three distinct types. One of these is unusually thick; another consists of two or more layers of glass cemented together with an organic binder, such as celluloid, and the third is prepared by special heat treatment. The first of these can be identified by its relatively great thickness, the second by examining the edge of the glass for laminated structure, and the third by its irregular figures, seen when the glass is examined in polarized light.

Death Treasure

by R. A. J. WALLING

SYNOPSIS: Veronica and Tom and their thrilling adventure at Silworthy Cove, where they find Mrs. Seabroke last asleep in her husband's car—part of Veronica's clever scheme to account for their absence during the night. Veronica tells Regie and Somerfield, when they arrive in response to a telephone message, that she, her mother and Tom discovered someone stealing the speed-boat and trailed it to Silworthy, where the thief abandoned it. They do not question her story but later that day Somerfield comes to the Grenofen home, convinces Tom he knows the truth, and then reveals startling news—that Professor Laxton is close on Tom's trail and that Laxton, not an archaeologist, is a—detective.

Chapter 24

THROUGH THE KEYHOLE

SOMERFIELD'S discovery that Laxton was a detective was no great surprise to me.

"That's been worrying me ever since he came," I told Somerfield, although my suspicions of the man's real profession were more recent.

"Then the people at the British museum," Somerfield asked, "how—?"

"Oh, that's quite easy. Laxton must have been on the watch for news of Pell. As soon as Pell's name appeared in The Times that day, when it said I was taking a drawing of the new fresco to the museum, Laxton or his superiors must have fixed up the trap with the museum people. Sunday night, when he took me down to the cloisters, policeman was written all over him."

"Of course, he was after Pell."

"It looked like that. But why?"

"At least three people could tell us that, Grenofen."

"Yes, I know," said I. "But I won't ask Veronica. I don't think 'twould be fair to ask Mrs. Seabroke. And if I asked old Seabroke—well, you can easily guess—"

Somerfield nodded. "It's awkward," said he. "But, you know, it may have to be done. If the professor gets wise to what happened last night, he won't have any mighty compunctions about asking. Will he, now? Spiriting away the man he was after for the murder of Pell! Have you realized it?"

My perception of reality was befogged by Veronica.

Somerfield, looking on from outside, was able to precipitate the confusion a little. He had an analytical mind. All these disconnections, he said, had to be linked up somehow, and the only link he could see was Laxton.

Old Fotherbury's excavations had brought Pell down to Blackwater. Then, there was a get-away by a convict. The convict arrived at Blackwater, and on his heels—Laxton.

Pell was murdered in the act of revealing a ghost and when we look for the ghost we find—Laxton.

"Something in the background," said Somerfield, "between the Seabrokes, Pell and the convict. Something that even Laxton can't see, for he doesn't seem to have brought the Seabrokes into the picture yet. Therefore, whatever his knowledge, it begins later than the Seabrokes'."

"No doubt about it," said I. "Laxton begins with some connection between Pell and the convict. The Seabrokes begin much further back. You remember that, immediately before Laxton came to Blackwater, he'd been in Devonshire. You remember the unexplained absence of Veronica from London that Saturday, and Pell's absence at the same time. You read that a woman and a car as well as a male accomplice were concerned in the escape. Think of Sunday night: Veronica's strange return; my encounter in Woodcot Lane; Laxton's queer conduct; Laxton's knowledge that some fellow would be prowling about Newplace that night—it all shows Laxton had touch with something that was likely to happen."

"I've been wondering," Somerfield mused, "whether Laxton had any inkling of a possible shooting match and was trying to stop it. By the way, Grenofen, Laxton's not come out as a policeman yet. Why? He's still running the antiquarian stunt."

"Is he? Seen him lately?" I asked.

"Yes," said Somerfield. "This afternoon I met him coming away from Newplace—in a dirty mess, earth all over his boots and clothes. Just taking leave of Marling and the cub. Said he'd been exploring with them. He walked along with me as far as the Lord Nelson. Fact is, Grenofen, that's what made me come on to see you."

"Did he say anything about me then?" I asked.

"Yes. Asked if you were home from Holham Bay. Whether I'd met your cousin. Whether you were specially friendly with Fotherbury. He's got his eye on you, Grenofen. But that wasn't the most remarkable thing.

"He harked back to what happened in the library the afternoon Pell was killed. Then he asked me whether I saw you or anybody else take a book out of the shelves that afternoon.

The "keyhole murderer" intended to kill not Pell—but Marling.

"He said Fotherbury had missed a book. It was in the library Friday. Tuesday, it couldn't be found. And Mr. Fotherbury wanted it badly."

"What book?" I asked.

"An old illuminated book, with a manuscript history of the abbey. Laxton said he wouldn't be surprised if it was what had put Fotherbury on to his excavations."

"Nobody touched a book that day, so far as I remember."

"I didn't see anybody touch a book. But it's not the loss that interests me—it's the fact that Laxton's so curious about it."

"Yes, that's rather queer," I admitted.

"I'd give almost a dollar to know whether Pell was in the library on Friday and whether Marling knew he'd been there."

"Marling!"

"Well—think of Marling a minute. Hated Pell. Why? Suspected him. Think of Marling in the cloister Sunday night. Then Monday afternoon—you couldn't miss Marling's face when Pell went for him. It was Marling who was going to see the ghost, if you remember. If Pell had taken the book, and Marling knew it, suppose the book contained the instructions for conjuring up the ghost, Grenofen?"

"I can't see how a book in Newplace library could have anything to do with conjuring a ghost out of a convict prison," said I.

"Did it ever ocur to you that Pell might have been shot by accident?"

Somerfield put the question almost casually. It made me sit up.

"You mean—why, Somerfield, you can only mean one thing! That—"

"That the shot was meant for somebody else. In fact, it's perfectly clear, Grenofen. Did you look through the keyhole? A man who was going to fire through the keyhole couldn't possibly have aimed at Pell, who wasn't in the line of fire except for one instant—"

"Of course! I hadn't thought of it. The man who fired the shot was blind at the time; he couldn't fire and see the target."

"Yes, and only one man could have been shot through the keyhole—the one who sat in the direct line of fire."

"And he was—"

"Marling."

An unique theory further darkens the mystery of Pell's death. Continue the story Monday.

WELL PRODUCES ICE IN HOTTEST WEATHER.

Spokane, Wash. (AP).—While scientists ponder one of nature's freaks, Edward L. Peterson chips ice from his well here during the hottest summer day, and uses it to chill fruits and vegetables.

Peterson's father homesteaded the site in 1890, and used the well as a storage refrigerator for meat.

It is known that this well had a part in the early history of the Pacific northwest, for still further back there was a trading post of the Hudson Bay Company here. During the struggle between fur companies, the Hudson agents stored pelts in the ice well to preserve them during the summer.

The history of the well goes even further—to the prehistoric days, probably, when a tremendous glacier slowly crunched its way across the site that is now Spokane. Glacier rock formations can be seen all about this region now.

The theory has been advanced that a portion of the ice glacier stayed here, buried miles deep in the ground, and that the well just taps the top of it. Other theorists have said that the ice freezes in the well each year.

CALIGULA'S GALLEYS NO PRIZE TO DWELLERS AT LAKE NEMI

Nemi, Italy, Sept. 7 (AP).—Sad are the simple folk of beautiful Nemi as they look down on their lake which once was called the "Mirror of Diana." And anxious are their faces, too, for they are fearing the loss of their homes.

The government's efforts to drain the lake in order to recover two galleys of the Emperor Caligula, sunk in it many centuies ago, have had for the fisherfolk of Nemi an aspect different from the rest of Italy. While Rome and the world have applauded the government's initiative in pumping out the water, the Nemians—including an American-born princess—have been saddened and disappointed.

They believe that two catastrophes will happen to them, each as bad as the other. One is that their beautiful lake will disappear forever, for they are not sure that it will ever fill up again. Already the beauty of the "Gem of the Alban Mountains" has fled. Precipitous wooded slopes, 330 feet high, used to extend right down to the water's edge. Now a broad mudbank, left by the receding waters, circles the lake. One slope, moreover, has been cut into to make a road.

But even worse that that, think the Nemians, is the possible loss of their homes. The village is perched on a steep hill overlooking the lake. As the water diminishes, the pressure of the water against the sides of the hills diminishes, too, and the land has a tendency to slide.

Already cracks have begun to appear in their houses, caused, they think by a shifting of the earth, which they trace to the transformation of the lake. They fear that their homes may be precipitated to the bottom of the slope. The palace of Princess Ruspoli—an American lady who married an Italian prince—has developed cracks, too.

The fishermen who used to get a generous haul every morning from the lake are shaking their fists in secret at the pumping operations going on night and day. Their fishing is no longer good, and they believe the lake will never be kind to them again.

The question of where the water of Lake Nemi comes from has not been settled. Either there are hidden springs or the lake draws its sustenance from the watershed of the surrounding hills. In any event, it will be a long time before it fills up again.

The Nemians look from their ruined lake to the galley partly "unwatered" on the shore, and wonder whether the price has not been too high. The galley is little more than keel and a section of the bottom of the hull, and it requires a powerful imagination to believe it anything more inspiring than a barge sunk in the Thames or the East River thirty or forty years ago.

Valuable historic objects have, of course, been brought to the surface, but these have been but duplicates of relics recovered by previous efforts to lift the galleys, and museums already contain far more objects than those recovered by the present efforts.

WAR COMING, GET GAS MASKS, SAYS ADMIRAL

Berlin, Sept. 7 (AP).—To keep gas masks handy among the pots and pans in the kitchen, ready for instant use, is advocated by former Rear Admiral Mahrholz, who urges all householders to be prepared for the coming chemical war.

The admiral thinks that all householders ought to be compulsorily trained to use gas masks.

He says that sham attacks ought to be made on all big cities with airplanes droping bombs containing "cough gases" so that the people would be forced to run for the protective appliance the moment the alarm is given.

AROUND THE WORLD

Manila, Sept. 7 (AP).—The Philippine Research Institute has been incorporated here under the direction of Vice Governor General Gilmore. The purpose is to search in chemistry, physics, biology and other natural sciences for facts which can be used in the alleviation of disease and in improving the industrial condition of the islands.

Dublin (AP).—Desmond Fitzgerald, minister of defense in the Free State government, and several government supporters are planning lecture tours of the United States. They hope to give Americans a full understanding of the political and economic movements in Ireland.

Rio Janeiro (AP).—Among the gaily painted craft which fish outside the harbor of Rio, is a boat named "President Wilson". Its owner is extremely proud of the name and claims it has brought him luck.

Stockholm (AP).—American dramas have been so successful here that the Royal Dramatic Theatre of Stockholm plans to present a number of them in the coming season. Among those listed for the Swedish stage are William Hurlbut's "Hidden", Maxwell Anderson's "What Price Glory" and O'Neill's "Emperor Jones".

Munich (AP).—A new opera "Dorian Gray", by C. L. Flick-Steger, a former resident of New York, has been accepted for production by the municipal opera at Aussig, Czechoslovakia. It is based upon a novel by Oscar Wilde and will have its premier this winter.

Havana (AP).—Mayor Miguel Mariano Gomez recently asked the city council to appropriate $3,440,235.18 with which to pay up the municipality's electric light bill. It has been in arrears for years and the Cuban Electric Company is said to have become uneasy about the account.

Klagenfurt, Austria (AP).—Duke Dimitri von Leuchtenberg, who recently was married, has purchased for 4,000,000 Austrian shillings from Count Henckel-Donnersmarck the castle of Porcia in Lavanthia. This is the biggest real estate deal in Austria since the war. The castle was built in 1537.

Paris (AP).—A French journalist who searched police files found that 4,000 women disappear in Paris each year. The majority of them are never found. A large proportion are girls of from 15 to 18 years of age.

Hamilton, Bermuda (AP).—Portugese farm laborers are leaving for home at the rate of several hundred each week and a labor shortage is feared. Bermudan natives prefer to act as caddies for American golfers or to drive the one horse shays that constitute the islands' principal mode of transportation.

Hum Of Industry To Waken Desolate Dead Sea Shores

BY ERNST DAVIS
(Associated Press Correspondent)

Jerusalem, Sept. 7 (AP).—Transformation of the desolate, heat ridden shore of the Dead Sea into an industrial area, with potash and other mineral extracting plants in operation, with motor trucks chugging across the barren wastes and with locomotives hauling car loads of valuable products up 1,300 feet to sea level, is envisaged by those who plan to exploit the "Dead Sea concession."

From the thickly impregnated waters the British-American syndicate figures on extracting wealth in a volume that makes the average treasure hunt seem tiny. It is calculated, for instance, that the lake contains 1,300,000,000 tons of potash, worth $70,000,000,000. Then there are asphalt, sulphur, magnesium, potassium chloride and iron and aluminum oxides, as well as common salt.

Potash, however, holds the major interest, for from the Dead Sea the British hope to get enough to break the German monopoly in this commodity in the European market.

All this material has been collecting in the lake for ages. Its seven affluents, including the River Jordan, pour 6,500,000 tons of water into it daily, and there is no outlet. The lake is 47 miles long, about eight miles wide and has a maximum depth of 1,278 feet. Its surface is 1,300 feet below sea level, making it the lowest and hottest surface in the world.

The holders of the concession intend to start work in November at Djeddeida, situated at the northwestern end of the lake. There the water is to be collected in hugh reservoirs and allowed to evaporate. The potash and other substances are to be extracted by industrial chemical processes from the solids that will remain in the tanks.

At first the potash will be transported to Jerusalem by motor trucks, there to be loaded upon trains for the ports of Jaffa or Haifa. Ultimately, if production warrants, a railway is to be built up the Jordan valley to Beisan, the Biblical Beth Shan, on whose walls the Philistines nailed the head of Saul. A branch of the Hedjaz railway already runs from Beisan to Haifa.

Major Tulloch, a British engineer, and Novemersky, a Palestinian chemist, who jointly won the concession from the British administration of Palestine, are being backed by a British-American corporation formed to exploit the concession. They are facing a suit which France has brought before the World Court at The Hague, but are so sure of their ground that they are going ahead despite this threat.

The French action seeks to compel Great Britain to recognize a pre-war concession granted by the old Turkish government to some journalists in Constantinople and which has since passed into French hands. The suit is based upon the Treaty of Lausanne, which provides that pre-war concessions retain their validity. England, however, cites clauses 72 and 77 of the same pact, invalidating concessions granted to subjects of enemy states.

The solicitors for France represented a Greek engineer who won a similar suit against Great Britain over a pre-war concession for supplying electric power to Jerusalem. But the Dead Sea concessionaires maintain that the cases are not parallel since that engineer was a subject of an allied nation.

Farming in New York State

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP)—Dampness in the poultry house may be avoided by providing an air outlet from the highest point in the house, according to H. E. Botsford, New York State College of Agriculture of Cornell University.

Mr. Botsford, in a bulletin written for free distribution by the college, points out that fresh air entering the poultry house becomes warm and rises and since warm air holds more moisture than cold air, it causes dampness unless it has a chance to escape.

Where there is no air outlet the moisture in the warm air condenses under the roof and falls back to the floor and roosts, with a gradual loss of vigor on the part of the birds and a resultant loss of money to the owners.

Despite a 20 per cent increase in the acreage of buckwheat in New York state this year, the yield is not expected to be proportionately increased, according to the State Department of Agriculture and Markets.

Dry weather caught the crop and resulted in poor condition, many fields being very short at the beginning of last month. August estimates of the department placed the production of buckwheat at 4,232,000 bushels, compared with 3,475,000 bushels last year, and a five-year average of 4,216,000 bushels.

Tests conducted this season by the New York State Agricultural Experiment Station at Geneva have shown that arsenic and nicotine in combination with lime are the most effective materials in combating cabbage worms and aphids.

The most effective dust mixture, according to P. J. Parrott, entomologist at the experiment station, proved to be 15 parts of powdered lead arsenate to 100 parts of hydrated lime. This was dusted directly on the plants and did not in any way impair their use as food. Mr. Parrott continued:

"Repeated applications of the dust during the season are necessary for really effective control, especially when the heads are forming, as new growth is continually being exposed to the ravages of the cabbage worms.

"If aphids are present in any considerable number, it is suggested that one per cent nicotine be added to the poison dust. This will increase the cost of the mixture slightly, but it will rid the plants of the lice at the same time that the dust is giving protection against the worms."

Latest reports from the New York State Department of Agriculture and Markets show that the average number of eggs laid each day by 100 hens is 46.8.

RED CROSS PLANS TO SIGN YOUTH OF MANY NATIONS

Geneva, Sept. 7 (AP)—Agreement to seek closer cooperation with other world-wide organizations of school-age children, notably the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides, was reached by the International Junior Red Cross conference which met here in a seven-day session.

Seventy experts in child health and social education, representing the Junior Red Cross sections of 37 nations and eleven international organizations, took part in the discussions on the technical phases of the Junior Red Cross program, which reaches 11,000,000 children in 41 countries.

The United States was represented by Dr. H. B. Wilson, national director of the American Junior Red Cross. Other Americans participating included Charlotte Kett, child magazine specialist, and Everett B. Sackett, international school expert, both of the League of Red Cross Societies secretariat in Paris.

Discussions of ways and means of speeding up and extending the international school correspondence of the Junior Red Cross occupied the first three days of the conference. This international exchange of letters reached about 60,000 school children in 55 nations last year.

Because of the youth of its members the delegates decided that the Junior Red Cross could ordinarily render only nominal aid in national disasters. On the other hand, it was agreed that the organization could render valuable service to the International Disaster Relief Union by publishing articles explaining this organization in the Junior Red Cross magazines.

Cooperation of the Junior Red Cross with other organizations of children will take the form principally of providing the members of these organizations with courses in hygiene and first aid.

Preliminary plans were made by the conference for a huge international camp of Junior Red Cross members to be held at some place in Europe.

Blue Light Shrimp at Manila.

Manila, Sept. 7 (AP)—A new species of shrimp which emits a bluish phosphorescent light was discovered just outside Manila Bay recently by a Danish oceanographic expedition under Professor Johannes Schmidt. The specimens were caught at a depth of 1,500 fathoms.

The initials "F" and "Y" on the banners used by Columbus when he landed at San Salvador stand for the names of Ferdinand and Isabella. The latter name is not infrequently spelled with "Y."

BOHEMIAN GARNETS REGAIN TRADE FAVOR

Prague, Sept. 7 (AP)—Bohemian garnets have had a long run of favor and are again coming into their own, according to trade reports.

In Czechoslovakia the garnet industry is highly developed and very ancient, as the blood-red stone early came in favor in ecclesiastic jewelry. Later, throughout Austria, it enjoyed a long vogue as a mourning gem.

In the main, the supply is obtained from river beds and only the expert can detect the shoddy-looking pebble which contains the precious stone "born within a stone."

Under the former regime in Bohemia it is said that a Princess Lobkovic, largely responsible for the introduction of tennis into Central Europe, had her tennis court sanded with powdered garnets.

Eighteen thousand communities are linked together in England and Wales by 3,312 regular motor coach services.

CHIC PARIS STREET IS INVADED BY PLUMBER

Paris, Sept. 7 (AP)—An American plumbing shop has invaded the rue de la Paix, supposed to be sacred to jewelers, creators of gowns, smart hotels, perfumers and other expensive luxuries.

It quite startled the neighbors but their alarm ceased when they saw ivory, green and mauve bathtubs, with plenty of colored tile backgrounds and realized the plumber was "tres chic," for a plumber.

Crowds were attracted too by a miniature Eiffel Tower in the window. It is made of 11,023 iron pipe fittings, with electric signs and with elevators as in the tower itself.

Unsatisfactory Charge Customers

are those
Who allow bills to lapse—accounts are fully payable by the 10th of each month.

are those
Who pay only a portion of their bills, compelling merchants to carry balances from month to month.

are those
Who purchase articles which they do not fully intend to keep and which they later attempt to return for credit—often in a damaged condition.

are those
Who make unjust claims and demand unreasonable allowances.

Other people may not keep their appointments but you can always depend upon the bill collector being on time.

"Well, that's getting out of a tight place," remarked the traveler leaving Edinburgh.

Early to bed and early to rise and your sleep won't be disturbed by flies.

"Is your wife shy about telling her age?"

"Very. About ten years shy."

"I'm going home to mother," she sobbed, "and I never want to see you again."

"Too late," he said, "your mother went home to grandmother last night."

The love of money is the root of all evil that whiskey is not.

Mother: "Yes, Archie, dear, those little boys next door have no father or mother and no kind Aunt Sophia. Wouldn't you like to give them something?"

Archie, with great enthusiasm: "Oh yes, Mama! Let's give them Aunt Sophia!"

Maize—Is your boy friend a one-arm driver?

Mamie—Not him. He takes a taxi and uses both arms.

Many men in the cemetery got there because they had more nerve than judgment.

A school girl was asked, "What did Henry VIII do to Anne Boleyn?" The reply was surprising. "Please, teacher, he ironed on her."

The child repeated her statement. She was quite confident that Henry had caused Anne Boleyn to submit to this treatment. It fitted in with her idea of his character.

Chapter and verse were then demanded, and the child opened her history book and pointed triumphantly to the passage, "Henry pressed his suit on Anne Boleyn!"

The cock of the walk down town is usually made to walk a chalk line when he gets home to the old hen.

First Dean: "Does she wear too thin shirts?"

SUPER TURKS ASK THAT GOVERNMENT RUN ALL SCHOOLS

Angora, Turkey, Sept. 7 (AP).—The super-democrats of the new Turkey are setting on foot a movement to have all private schools in the republic turned over to the state.

In a true democracy, the leaders of this movement argue, private schools should not exist as they are symbolic of social distinctions. All secondary schools must be run by the state, they conclude, in order that social inequality may be avoided and also in order that uniformity, "the essence of the republic," may be obtained.

Even the strict governmental inspection of all private schools, Turkish as well as foreign, which was inaugurated by the Kemalists, does not ensure the desired uniformity, according to the private school abolitionists.

If the government heeds these apostles of pure democracy who are filling the press with their appeals, some eighty foreign schools—English, American, French, Italian and German—would come under the ban as well as a considerable number of schools now supported by the Greek, Armenian, and Jewish communities.

The American colleges would not be affected as the 100 per cent state control is projected only for primary and secondary schools.

Much as the Kemalist government may wish to satisfy this new thirst for pure democracy, it is doubtful whether it could for some time to come finance the Turkish and foreign private schools in question. The utility of these schools in Kemal's war against illiteracy is too evident to make their abolition likely.

BEGIN LONG PROCESS TO CANONIZE PIUS X

Venice, Sept. 7 (AP).—Each week the ecclesiastical tribunal of the patriarchate of Venice is sitting to hear testimony on the sanctity of Pope Pius X who before his elevation to the triple crown was himself patriarch of the Lagoon City.

So voluminous have been the depositions, and so many the witnesses, that the work of compiling all the matter, adducing the saintly character of the former pontiff, can hardly be finished before December.

At that period the testimony, all duly transacted as stipulated in the Canon law, will be forwarded to Vatican City, constituting the first step in the long process of having Pius X proclaimed a saint. If the Vatican authorities approve, the "cause", as it is called, will go before the Sacred Congregation of Rites. If this body approves, the late Pontiff will be proclaimed "Venerable," and later "beatified," with imposing ceremonies in St. Peter's.

Still later, will come the canonization proper, attended by even more imposing rites, whereafter "St. Pius X" will be recommended to the veneration of the entire Roman Catholic body.

BULGARIA TO REDUCE NUMBER OF COLLEGES.

Sofia, Sept. 7 (AP).—A glut of "intellectuals" in Bulgaria is giving serious concern to the government.

Although Bulgaria is proud of the fact that only 5 per cent of her total population is illiterate, the government is puzzled with the large number of promising youths graduated each year from the country's colleges. The Civil Service cannot absorb the thousands of graduates. The Minister of Education is therefore working on a law which will convert twelve of the kingdom's twenty colleges into schools of agriculture and mechanics.

More drastic cuts are under consideration in the case of women's colleges. There are four law schools for girl students and their number will be reduced to one, as Bulgaria offers little work to woman lawyers.

PINEAPPLE PACK IN HAWAII FAILS TO MEET DEMAND

Honolulu, Sept. 7 (AP).—Due to a domestic and foreign demand for their product that is considered the greatest in the history of industry, Hawaiian pineapple packers are faced with the necessity of curtailing orders already booked, because they will not have sufficient fruit to meet requirements.

Approximately 200,000,000 cans of Hawaiian pineapple, packed or to be packed and representing the territory's 1929 outturn, have been sold. The packing companies have no hesitancy in stating that they could sell more without difficulty.

One of the immediate results will be that orders for canned pineapple, booked prior to the recent announcement of opening prices for 1929, will in all probability have to be curtailed to some extent—probably not respecting all items generally, but at least some of them. Decision has already been reached by one company to pro rate its pack, some of its customers receiving approximately 75 per cent of their orders and others around 65 per cent, depending upon the items ordered.

It is estimated that 90 per cent of the Hawaiian canned pineapple output this season will go to the American market, and that the remaining 10 per cent will reach Europe. Incidentally, the existing demand indicates an increase in both the foreign and domestic markets.

Local packers stated that indications of an increased demand for Hawaiian pineapple began appearing late in 1928. Numerous reasons are advanced to explain this. One is the comparatively small peach crop on the mainland this summer. Another is that the intensive advertising campaigns conducted by the pineapple canners are serving to awaken the nation to a better knowledge of the Hawaiian product.

In addition to the 1929 pineapple pack being oversold, the satisfactory position of the industry, financially and physically, is emphasized by the probability that 1929 will be a "banner" year for the canneries from the standpoint of production. Although no official estimates are available, it is quite likely that the pack of 1929 will very closely approach the 9,000,000-case mark, which will be the largest pack in the history of the industry and a substantial gain over the pack of a year ago.

One company official said that the increasing demand unquestionably will cause the packers to begin the development of new lands of pineapple cultivation. He added that there is still available considerable undeveloped areas on which the fruit could be grown.

Church And School Notes

(By The Associated Press.)

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP).—A copy of Zion's Herald, a church paper, dated March 31, 1824, was found at Troy a few days ago by a contractor engaged in demolishing a house. The edges of the paper had been charred but the printing remained legible and sharp.

The paper, which was published each Wednesday by the New England Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, contained an address by the Rev. Jesse Fillmore, widely known preacher of the early part of the 19th century.

Professor John Baille of the University of Toronto has been lecturing at the foreign missions institute in connection with the Chautauqua assembly. More than 1,000 persons registered for the missionary institute.

"The greatest mistake of mankind," Dr. Paul Dwight Moody, president of Middlebury College, Middlebury, Vt., declared in a recent sermon in New York city, "is a willingness to take things for granted. Man believes the label on the package without undoing its strings to find out just what it contains."

Dr Moody said that the chief cause of modern suicides is a "loss of that fresh, childish sense of wonder and the stimulation of intellectual inquisitiveness.

"Life without mystery—a sight of the unseen—simply is not life. The drabness, the flatness, the dull, unrelieved grayness of most modern life is merely a lack of mystery in it.

"The aim of education should be to keep living in our appreciation—to sharpen our curiosity."

"Obey the laws of God if you would be successful," is the advice of the Rev. Dr. Calvin Bernard Waller. In a recent sermon at Calvary Baptist Church, New York, Dr. Waller said:

"Power is promised to believers in Christ. Jesus said 'We shall receive power after the Holy Ghost is come upon you.' Then why all this lack of power—dearth of the spirit, the powerless ministry of many preachers, lack of results in both pulpit and pew? Because they do not obey the laws that God has laid down for them."

BRITISH CUT SOCIAL KNOT FOR MRS. WEBB.

London, Sept. 7 (AP).—When Mrs. Sidney Webb refused to be known as Lady Passfield, social difficulties were anticipated in her position as wife of the Secretary for the Dominions in Ramsay MacDonald's new labor government.

But the difficulties have been overcome. Mrs. Webb has had her way. An invitation to a government reception stated:

"The Secretary of State for Dominion Affairs and Mrs. Sidney Webb will receive the guests."

Mrs. Webb has vouchsafed no formal explanation as to why she acquiesced when her husband assumed a title of nobility in the interests of the Labor Party, at the same time rejecting it as a social distinction for herself, but she said to a friend:

"I am 70 now, and I desire no other name than Mrs. Sidney Webb."

Warning That Caused Lion's Loss of Appetite

At the conclusion of a banquet given in his honor on the occasion of a visit to Poland, says an article translated from L'Europe Nouvelle, of Paris, Gilbert K. Chesterton was called upon for a speech. "An early Christian martyr," said Chesterton, "stood in the arena awaiting the lions, and he prayed to his God to perform a miracle that would save his life. And God gave him a divine inspiration. The grating in front of the lion's den was raised and a great tawney beast appeared, sniffed the air, shook his mane, roared and bounded toward the waiting martyr. The Christian stood with folded arms and when the animal drew near was heard to mutter a few words. Immediately the lion recoiled and slunk back to the far end of the arena where he tranquilly lay down. Nero gave a brief order and the Christian was dragged in front of the imperial loge. 'What didst thou say?' asked the emperor. 'What magic hast thou used that the king of beasts hath refused to harm thee?' 'O Caesar,' replied the Christian, 'I said simply to the lion: "Have a care what thou doest, fool, for after thou hast eaten they will call upon thee to make a speech."'" Whereupon G. K. C., without another word, resumed his seat.

Parrot Almost Human in Sense of Gratitude

Doubtless every one has cause to decry, at some time or other, the lack of gratitude shown by one person toward another who has done them a good turn, but surely there are few examples of ingratitude to equal one that occurred recently in Leicestershire, England.

The case concerned a man and a parrot. The bird, for some reason or other, suddenly took a liking to the top of a three-story building, and having reached the roof suddenly changed its mind and desired to return to earth—but couldn't face the journey down.

Along came a young man, saw the bird's plight, and was struck with pity, so much so that he risked his life by climbing up to the roof and bringing the bird to safety.

On reaching the ground, the parrot turned on its rescuer, and bit him severely for his trouble!

Thus is gratitude expressed by the parrot. Almost human! — Montreal Family Herald.

With Interest

Two women of uncertain age, who had long been rivals in love, quarreled over a trifling gift which the object of their adoration had indiscreetly bestowed on one of them.

"He intended those flowers for me," the elder woman said to the lucky recipient. "You waylaid him on the way to my house, and shamelessly robbed me of his offering. Your guilty face tells tales."

The other shrugged her shoulders as she answered, sweetly:

"Oh, well, my dear, have it your own way. At any rate, no one will ever accuse you of having a telltale face. It's so difficult to read between the lines."

Financial and Commercial

New York, Sept. 7 (AP).—Heavy week-end profit-taking in some of the industrial leaders brought about some irregularity in today's brief session of the market, but the general trend was upward, with the public utility issue again in the forefront of the advance.

While traders generally were pleased at the sharp rally of yesterday, there was a belief in some quarters that the recovery had been too rapid, influencing conservative traders to reduce their commitments.

Weekly mercantile reviews reported an expansion in business after the Labor Day holiday, and several favorable earnings and sales reports made their appearance. New rumors of stock split-ups and mergers constantly dropped out, but few of them carried official approval.

Held for Action Of Grand Jury

Irving Rothberg, who spends the summers at Pataukunk, was held for the action of the grand jury in $1,000 bail following the death of Louis Fisher, farmer and boarding house keeper of Pataukunk, who was struck by Rothberg's car near Kerhonkson on August 31. Fisher's car had become stalled due to a poor battery. Rothberg came along and attempted to assist Fisher but found he was unable to do so and he proceeded on to Kerhonkson. Later on his way back he forgot about the Fisher car which was without lights and crashed into it as it was being pushed along the road toward the village. Mr. Fisher was thrown to the pavement and his neck broken. His son and two boarders who were assisting in pushing the car escaped.

The car landed right side up on the tracks, but was wrecked.

Warns Campers And Motorists

Albany, Sept. 7 (AP).—The Conservation Commission today issued a special warning against forest fires to persons expecting to spend this week-end outdoors. The fire hazard, the Commission said, had shown no signs of abatement, despite scattered showers in the state. Unless care is taken by campers and motorists, the warning states, a worse forest fire situation will exist Monday than did early this week.

Motorists were requested to avoid throwing lighted cigarettes from cars. Attention of campers was directed to the standing order to build camp fires only on bare rock, to break in two all used matches and to put out and report all small brush or forest fires.

The Commission received reports of five new fires yesterday. The fire fighting forces recruited by the state yesterday extinguished 17 of the 39 fires burning in widely scattered sections.

NO INCREASE IN POSTAGE UNTIL FACTS ARE KNOWN

Washington, Sept. 4 (AP).—Postmaster General Brown said today that the post office department was not contemplating any recommendations to congress calling for an increase in first-class postal rates until it had definite evidence that the handling of first-class mail was contributing to the annually growing deficit of the department.

At the present time the only analysis of the cost of handling first-class mail which the department possesses shows that such mail is one of the few sources of profit to the department. There is a suspicion in the mind of the postmaster general, however, that the foundation of this analysis is faulty and that a new cost accounting system now being worked out will show that the government does not make a profit on first-class mail.

The postmaster general said that he had no hope of securing any definite information regarding the actual cost of handling first-class mail until after January 1. Until that time, he said, all talk of raising postage rates would be "exceedingly premature."

Plan Closer Cooperation

Committee for Kingston Dinner of Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce Holds First Meeting.

Some time ago the members of the Rondout Valley Chamber of Commerce, whose headquarters are in Ellenville, decided that it would be an excellent idea to hold a dinner in Kingston in cooperation with business men of this city. Dr. Walter N. Thayer, Jr., president, in accordance with the above, named the following Kingston men as a committee to engineer this end of the project: Morton Lown, chairman; Albert N. Cook, W. N. Conner, E. J. Dempsey, Edward Conway, Jacob Forst, William O'Reilly, William Von Berg, Max L. Reben, Charles C. Michaud, Charles Mullen, George V. Young, Walter Geroldsek, Philip Elting, Harry Schirick, S. Max Taylor, David Burgevin.

The committee held its first meeting at the Elks Club Friday evening. Albert N. Cook was named secretary of the committee and plans discussed for the coming dinner, which will probably be held in about two weeks at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

A second meeting of the committee will be held next Monday evening at the Governor Clinton, at which time it is expected that officers and some members of the Rondout Valley body will be present to join in the deliberations.

Lindbergh To Aid In Search

St. Louis, Sept. 7 (AP).—Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh took off at 5:20 a. m. (C. S. T.) today from Lambert-St. Louis Field for Wilson, Ariz., in the fast plane he borrowed yesterday at New York to aid in the search for the missing sky liner City of San Francisco. He was accompanied by his wife.

Colonel Lindbergh, with his wife as a passenger, left New York yesterday at 3:05 p. m. (E. D. T.) and arrived at Lambert-St. Louis Field six hours and 50 minutes later. Almost before he had climbed from the cockpit of the plane which transported Captain Frank Hawks in the quickest crossing of the United States, Col. Lindbergh gave orders for its preparation for the flight today.

Whether his flight to Winslow will be non-stop will depend on the weather, Colonel Lindbergh said. He encountered poor visibility on his trip from the east yesterday and fog enveloped the field when he landed.

The famous airman is technical advisor to the Transcontinental Air Transport, operators of the City of San Francisco, which has been missing since Tuesday with its passenger list of five and crew of three.

The territory is familiar to Colonel Lindbergh, who selected the route used by the T. A. T. in its air-rail hookup. He also piloted the first of the company's planes in the regular service, both eastward and westward over that particular district.

Another of the series of free diphtheria clinics will be held under the auspices of the board of health at the rooms of the board in the city hall on Monday afternoon from 2 to 4 o'clock.

One case of diphtheria, that of a child, has been reported to the health board. The case developed in a child who had not received the toxin antitoxin treatment, which immunizes the one receiving it from the disease.

The health authorities are particularly anxious to have parents whose children entered school for the first time this week bring the children to the free clinic so that they can be immunized from diphtheria.

For Meditation

By LEONARD A. BARRETT

THE GOLDEN RULE

CONFUCIUS, by his teachings endeavored to assure peace and prosperity to the empire of China. He proclaimed a golden rule which was, "Whatsoever you do not wish done to you, do it not to another." If you do not want to be robbed, do not steal. If you do not want to be murdered, do not kill. In other words, let everybody alone and they will let you alone. You will receive just what you give. This negative precept, which was the spirit of all the teachings of the sage of China, failed to bring a national security sufficient to assure the prosperity and peace Confucius so greatly desired. In the very nature of the case it could not, for it advocated "isolation" as the most important principle of life.

L. A. Barrett.

Any theory of life that is to stand the test of time and bring ultimate peace and prosperity must be positive and not negative in character. We have such a philosophy of life taught by the World's Greatest Teacher whose golden rule was just the opposite of the one by Confucius. "Whatsoever ye would that men should do to you, do ye even so to them." If you wish to receive kindness, express kindness to others. "Give to the world the best you have and the best will come back to you."

A rule of life applicable to individuals is likewise applicable to communities and to nations. In our international relations for many years we have been struggling for peace. We fought the greatest war in modern times thinking we would attain it, but we discover that we do not possess it. The experiences encountered in this struggle have taught us some lessons. Certainly we discovered that peace cannot be obtained by any rule or contract which eliminates human relations. A negative attitude toward life will never assure peace. "Do not fire at an enemy if you do not wish to be fired upon," will never bring peace. We have been endeavoring to have peace by spending large sums upon armies and navies with no definite result. Why not try a theory of life which was advocated by the world's greatest teacher? Why not emphasize in our international attitude the same spirit we wish expressed toward ourselves? Suppose we spend less upon preparations for war and more upon methods that will bring about a feeling of good will. Why not substitute for a negative attitude a constructive program that will remove suspicion and stimulate mutual trust, confidence and dependence? If half the money spent upon armaments had been spent upon creating good will we would have had an international peace long ago.

GULLIBLE SAXONS POUR MONEY INTO CULTS ON RIVIERA

Cannes, France, Sept. 7 (AP).—The question as to how American and English residents of the Riviera amuse themselves has been settled by a police official who has been stationed in Southern France for many years.

"They join cults," he says. "It takes a secretary to keep track of the various cults and sects. Right now we're lacking a nude cult because we had to run the last one out of the country a few months ago, but I suppose there's another one hanging around some place.

"We have vegetarian cults, spook cults, raw meat cults, a Spartan cult, and any number of religious cults, most of them on a diet. Take your pick.

"I suggest a small egg and milk group near St. Raphael. The members have solved the high cost of living question by eating only bread, eggs and milk. They seem prosperous, physically and financially, though the local vegetarian cult says eggs and milk are deadly poisons."

The officer took a deep quaff of post-war absinthe and confessed that he ate and drank anything handy.

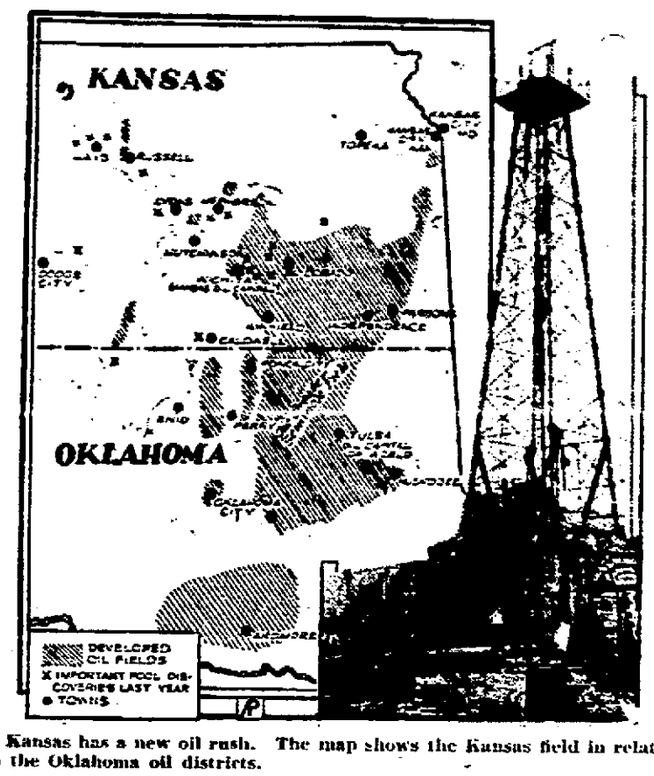
Cults are his specialty. He tries to protect the visitors in his district.

But how the Anglo-Saxon bites at the bait. The Simple Life cult leader made a small fortune. Liver trouble? Join "the Simple Livers." And they joined. And they paid thousands of dollars for the privilege of drinking water instead of wine, eating plain food and working in the cult leader's garden six hours every day. Testimonials that a complete cure had been effected came from 95 per cent. The garden also prospered.

"The occult cults cause the most trouble," continued the officer. "In many cases these people have been carried so far that they were almost under the complete control of some quack. Many of the leaders are within the law. We look after the others.

"It is certain that our American and British visitors spend hundreds of thousands of dollars yearly on these cult amusements. In most cases they do not go to extremes and therefore we do not interfere."

Spouting Kansas Oil Promotes Stampede Over Half of State



Kansas has a new oil rush. The map shows the Kansas field in relation to the Oklahoma oil districts.

Wichita, Kas., (AP).—A new arrow on the nation's oil map points beckoningly to Kansas, where a "black gold rush" has brought a drillers' stampede to nearly half the state's 105 counties.

About 125,000 barrels of oil are spurting daily from almost 500 wells in 51 counties. More than 100 rigs were built in June under pressure of the wildcatter's advance. New producers are found daily in southern and western Kansas.

The plains country stands expectantly on the brink of a new industrial era. There is a feverish search for oil. More than 200 wells are being drilled.

The state's production is centered around the Sedgwick country-Wichita field, whose 90 wells pour out 35,000 barrels daily. Much of the oil play, however, is scattered over townsites where residents never dreamed of sudden riches.

Latest reports show a daily average of 121,210 barrels a day from all Kansas fields. This lacks only a few hundred barrels of the mark reached 11 years ago when El Dorado's field was a sensation.

Outstandingly productive is a rank wildcat well, miles from any other field, near the old cattle town of Caldwell. For three months this phenomenal well has flowed "natural"—without a pump—at a rate of more than 1,000 barrels a day.

That discovery was Caldwell's biggest moment since 1871, when nearly half a million cattle passed north through there—and cowboys "relaxed" so vigorously that a Wichita weekly newspaper tersely bulletined: "As we go to press hell is again in session at Caldwell."

Gascos Beat Hercules, Industrial Series Even

The Gascos evened the Industrial League series Friday evening at the Athletic Field when they turned the tables on the Hercules, handing them a 3-1 trimming in a well-played game before another large crowd.

Walt Black's pitching for the Gascos was the real feature of the game. He permitted the Powdermen but three measly singles, which were well scattered and set six of them down by way of the strike-out route. He was master of affairs at all times.

Ken Best, Hercules' pitcher, was not far behind Black. He allowed one more hit, but two of the hits made off his delivery went for extra bases, which figured in the run-scoring.

Both pitchers were given good support by their teammates. The Gascos were far more peppier than they were in the first game, making some sparkling plays. The Hercules executed a double play, the only one of the game.

Wood, the Gascos' first baseman, led the batters with two hits, one a double. He was the only batter to get more than one safety. Joie Hoffman poled the longest hit of the game, a triple to deep left field.

Neither team could do much in the first inning, although the Gascos advanced a man to second base.

Joe Dulin started the second inning for the Powdermen with a single to right field, but was left stranded when the next three batters went out in order.

Wood gave the Gascos a life in their half of the second with a two-bagger. Flanagan, the next batter, was given a walk and both runners advanced a base on Quackenbush's sacrifice bunt. Raichle hit the next ball to the pitcher, who threw him out at first base and Wood trotted home with the first tally.

The third inning saw the Gascos scoring another run. Joie Hoffman led with a triple and scored when Al Flanagan hit a liner to Dulin in centerfield. Dulin returned the ball to the catcher, who let the ball get away from him.

After Niles struck out in Hercules' half of the fourth inning Peterson singled to left field. He stole second and third and scored on Dulin's grounder to Sickler, who made the play at first base, not even attempting to cut Peterson off from scoring.

Raichie scored the Gascos' final run in the fifth inning. He hit to Peterson, who threw high to Van Etten at first, and when the ball was recovered Raichle was safely perched on second base. He reached third on an infield out, and registered on Hoffman's sacrifice fly to Hertica in right field.

Ken Best got the Hercules' last hit in the fifth inning, coming after two outs had already been made. Dulin reached first on an error in the sixth and Hertica got on base in the last when he was hit by a pitched ball. None of these players were able to advance pass first base.

SIDELINERS.

Smith, the Gascos' right fielder, contributed the best play of the game. He robbed Van Etten of a hit that was labeled home run, grabbing it off one of the parked cars. It was Smith's second spectacular catch of the current series.

Bob Sickler, "Dub" Raichle and Al Flanagan also made neat plays on the infield for the Gascos.

Joie Hoffman redeemed himself by catching a good game and scoring one run. He also batted in a run.

Peterson showed some speed when he pilfered second and third on two pitched balls. He made a good slide at third base, otherwise he would have been out.

Tagging Major League Bases

BY WILLIAM J. CHIPMAN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Rain and open dates limited major league activity yesterday to two games in Pittsburgh, but even this curtailment failed to prevent the Cubs from drawing closer to their pennant. The Bruins themselves had two games washed permanently from their schedule in St. Louis as the Robins held the Pirates to an even break. This turn of events left the Cubs in need of only eleven victories in their remaining twenty-three games—the same number the Athletics require.

With two games permanently removed from the card, the Cubs by winning eleven more would finish with 98 victories and 54 defeats. A clean sweep from this point to the finish would give the Pirates a final record of 99 games won and 55 lost, just a per centage shade worse than a 98-54 Cub record.

Burleigh Grimes sought his eighteenth victory in the opener at Pittsburgh, but received instead his fifth defeat. Babe Herman hit a homer with one on in the third, and other Robins bunched blows for four more runs in the fifth, giving the flock just enough leeway to ease out ahead by 6 to 5 at the finish. Watson Clark won his fourteenth victory, but had to have the help of Johnny Morrison in the ninth, when, after several earlier rallies had failed, the Pirates threatened to tie.

Jess Petty was right in the second clash, and Moss, McWeeny and Moore were not, so the Buccaneers had little trouble in winning by 8 to 1. The Pirates collected twelve hits.

Babe Herman defended his thin lead in the batting race by adding two singles off Petty to the home run he made in the first clash. These three hits in seven times at bat added a fraction of a point to Herman's average as Frank O'Doul sat idle, but it remained necessary to extend the figures into four columns to detect the difference between the two leaders. Herman is out front with .3931 to O'Doul's .3925.

Games were scheduled only at Pittsburgh and St. Louis in the National League. The Indian-Athletic encounter, rained out at Shibe Park, was the only American League fixture on the card.

Foxx Still Leads American Hitters

Chicago, Sept. 7 (AP).—Although slumping slightly during the past two weeks, Jimmy Foxx of the Athletics still leads the field seeking the American League batting championship for 1929.

Unofficial averages, including Wednesday's games, give the slugging Philadelphia first sacker a season's mark of .373, one less than a week ago and two points better than his closest rival, Lou Fonseca of Cleveland, who dropped two points during the past week.

Most of their rivals gained during the week. Al Simmons of the A's boosted his mark from .364 to .366; Manush of St. Louis gained three points for a .365 average and Lazzeri of the Yanks hoisted his one point to .355.

Other leaders and their marks: Combs, New York, .354; Heilmann, Detroit, .348; Ruth, New York, .343; Alexander, Detroit, .341; Miller, Philadelphia, .339; Gehringer, Detroit and E. Rice, Washington, .331.

"Lefty" Grove increased his margin in the pitching race with another victory during the week and now has a record of 19 won and 4 lost. Zachary of the Yankees also went out and copped another game and while he has been in 22 games he still has to be defeated, winning 10 games. Earnshaw of the Athletics broke even during the week, winning one and dropping one for a grand record of 20 victories and 8 defeats.

Philadelphia gained a point in the struggle for team batting honors during the week and now is three points behind the Detroit Tigers, who are setting the pace with a .302 mark. In general excellence, however, Connie Mack's band stands out, leading in runs scored with 814 and giving the fewest runs scored against them—543. In team fielding the Athletics lead with a .977 percentage.

Other leaders:

Double plays, Cleveland, 139.
Hits for most total bases, Simmons, Philadelphia, 323.
Strikeouts, Grove, Philadelphia, 151.

Sport Slants

By Alan J. Gould,
(Associated Press Sports Editor.)

One of the most interesting angles in what looks like a rip-snorting battle for Pacific Coast conference gridiron championship honors this season is the exceptional quality of material on hand to man the pivotal position of the lines—center.

This far western sector has always had a big share of great centers. Among the most recent of All-American fame was Larry Bettencourt, the chunky St. Mary's star who later turned his talents to the big league diamond. But the calibre is unusually high for the coming season, playing no small part in the strength of five of the main title contenders—Southern California, Stanford, California, University of Oregon and Washington.

Nate Barrager, U. S. C.'s captain, held down the pivot post last year, ranking as about the best on the coast, but so good a prospect is George Dye, an Alabama product now doing his stuff with the native sons, that the team leader is slated to be moved elsewhere in the line. At Los Angeles, Dye is regarded as one of the best snappers-back the Trojans have had.

One of the few outstanding stars left from Stanford's great 1928 line is Walter Heinecke, a short package of dynamite, who used up about three or four Army centers in the big game at the Yankee stadium last season. Heinecke is fast, a fine blocker, and declared to be in good condition despite reports a weak ankle might handicap his start.

Captain J. J. McEwan, the head coach at Oregon, was an All-American center himself when he starred for West Point, so that it isn't strange to see him develop so fine a pivot man as George Stadelman, who stands out in a veteran line, one of the strongest in the big conference.

Washington's center is the giant Paul Jessup, captain of the eleven, oarsman and weight-tosser. Jessup's 6 feet 7 inches tower above any line and give him a chance to pluck stray enemy passes out of the air. He is being shifted to center from tackle, where he played last year.

Winding up the list is Roy Riegels of California, famous as the "man who ran for his own goal" in the game with Georgia Tech last New Year's Day, but a fine center for all that he has that celebrated "boner" to live down.

Less vital mistakes than that made by Riegels have been the undoing of exceptional players but around the campus at Berkeley they expect Roy to be one of the team's big stars.

Washington, losing its All-American ball-carrier, Chuck Carrol, also has had its troubles over the retention of Enoch Bagshaw as head coach after a series of disappointments. Nevertheless the word is out to watch the Huskies. There is fine material on hand up in the big timber country for football as well as the crews that have made Washington and their Conibear system famous.

U. S. C., California, Stanford and Oregon are the favored quartet in the main race but in a free-for-all scramble, Washington might slip through. If not, Oregon may break the stranglehold the California "Big Three" has had on the championship in recent years. McEwan has a powerful, veteran team of which much is expected.

Dodo Jackson Wins Over Routier Parra

Johnston Meets Willing in Finals

Pebble Beach, Cal., Sept. 7 (AP).—Two stalwarts of the links, Dr. Oscar F. Willing of Portland and Harrison R. Johnston of St. Paul—"Doc" and "Jimmy" to the galleries—came today to the final 36-hole round of play on picturesque Pebble Beach to decide which was to experience the thrill of being amateur champion of the United States for the first time.

Considered so lightly as contenders that Johnston was ranked sixth and Willing seventh on the national list used for match play "seeding", they stood out nevertheless as the survivors of a tournament notable for its far western hazards and upsets.

The fact that in their paths to the final round neither "Doc" nor "Jimmy" was called upon to play the dethroned champion, Bobby Jones, may be a source of disappointment to some of the critics, but this much can be said for Johnston—he "beat the man that beat the man that beat the man that defeated Bobby Jones".

This refrain has grown with the tournament's progress, to a musical accompaniment that appealed to the fans ever since Johnny Goodman of Omaha ousted Jones in the first round and took the main actor off this glittering California peninsula.

Goodman was removed in turn by William Lawson Little, Jr., of San Francisco, who bowed to Francis Ouimet of Boston in the third round. In the semi-finals yesterday Johnston completed the route to the final by handing Ouimet, the 1914 champion, a decisive setback, 6 and 5, while Dr. Willing was disposing of H. Chandler Egan of Medford, Ore., 1904-05 titleholder, 4 and 3.

Johnston was the more impressive of the two finalists yesterday. He was always the dominating figure in his match with Ouimet, who found more traps during the day than he did in three previous matches.

What few dramatic moments there were in the semi-finals were packed into the outgoing nine of the second round of the Egan-Willing match, and they were furnished exclusively by the 45-year-old Egan.

Willing went to lunch eight up, with victory conceded to him. He seemed to have the champion of 25 years ago groggy. Egan, however, had a punch left.

He may have been helped by an osteopathic treatment to his weak back, the factor that has kept him out of most national competition for years, but at any rate, he aroused a big gallery to a frenzied pitch of excitement with one of the gamest rallies ever witnessed on any course.

From being nine down at the 20th hole, Egan became only four down at the 27th. He was getting a few "breaks" at last, but he was also consistently outplaying the rugged doctor. But for a stymie at the 19th hole and missed putts of five feet at the 20th and four feet at the 27th, Egan might have performed the miracle and been only one down.

Georgetown in Need of Halfback

Ocean City, N. J., Sept. 7 (AP).—Anyone possessing knowledge of a big punishing halfback lurking undiscovered among the student body of Georgetown University can earn Lou Little's eternal gratitude by speaking up now before it is too late.

Of the very few things Lou would like for his football team this fall this unknown back is the most important. Of course Lou also would be interested in another fast, husky end, but for the time being the job of finding a hammering 200-pounder to lead his squadron of fleet but woefully light ball toters into action has the Georgetown coach more hot and bothered than the blazing sun of this seaside training resort.

With a typically rugged Georgetown schedule ahead, Little would like, for a change, a rugged man who could smash a path for Hudak, Barabis, MacZees, Scalzi, Bozak, Hannegan, all speedsters but averaging less than 160 pounds in heft. Bud O'Hearn, a youngster, may be the answer to a coach's prayer but even Bud isn't as large as he might be.

Otherwise the big director of athletics at the Washington University is content with the material. Only four regulars have been graduated from the eleven that beat New York University last fall.

Johnnie Tamaini, a type of gridiron poisoning for the opposition, is gone from one end but Ken Provincial, who galloped 95 yards with a fumble to beat N. Y. U., is back along with Captain Mooney and Lisston, a fine pair of tackles, Wynkoop, center, and Cordovana, guard. Duplin and Dwyer, backs, have graduated but there are many to take their places and the line reserves, several of them incoming sophomores, are big and capable.

"They're fine boys," Little says, "and they're getting into the kind of condition that wins football games in November. When they're 'right' physically, they're 'right' mentally and there are no misgivings when the tight spots come in the fall."

Georgetown's schedule opens with Mt. St. Mary's and wades through Western Maryland, St. Louis University, West Virginia Wesleyan, Lebanon Valley, New York University, Navy, West Virginia and Detroit in that order.

LAKE KATRINE.

Lake Katrine, Sept. 7.—The first meeting of the P.-T. A. will be held Monday evening at the school house at 8 o'clock.

Dodo Jackson of Long Island, who was announced as a last minute substitute, generalled his way to a close victory over Routier Parra of Chile after 10 rounds of socking in the main bout at the Kingston Fair Grounds Friday night. Jackson was put on the card in place of Black Bill, Cuban scrapper, who was unable to appear.

Dodo, a member of the colored race, remained cool throughout the clash and thereby hangs the tale. His edge over the South American was slight but it was an edge.

The opening rounds of the sockfest found the little fellows hitting each other with everything but the kitchen sink, and somewhere in the beginning chapters Dodo made one of those windmill-like punches tell. Beginning with the sixth round, Parra looked worried, he had been hurt.

Routier opened the meet with an aggressive attitude which continued until his hurt began to tell upon his small frame. Dodo, on the other hand, was content to let Parra's blows fall. The Long Island boy used lefts time after time, blows which appeared to do little harm, but which began to make an impression after the fifth round and eventually gave him the win.

It was by no means a one-sided affair. Both boys were anxious to make a good impression, in fact they began to trade socks before the bell rang in the ninth. Routier missed many blows but those that did land seemed to have all kinds of power for a man of his size. The affair was fairly even throughout, it was colorful and furnished by far the most action on the card.

Goosby-Frisco Bout a Draw.

The performance of a cool fighter against one who was game but lacked ring knowledge presented itself in the form of a bout between Frank Goosby of California and Eddie Frisco of Newburgh. The crowd was with Eddie from the start and the Newburgh boy did everything he could to record a win, but he couldn't make the grade and the go was declared a draw.

Goosby's knowledge of the roped square was sufficient to protect him from Eddie's mad rushes. At the conclusion of the affair, Goosby wasn't even sweating. Several times druing the mix, Frisco declared that he was being hit low but nothing came of it.

A came-back was registered by J. D. Rogers, Texan negro, over Humberto Curi of Argentina. The South American easily took the first two rounds of the six, and made the black boy so groggy in the last half of the second that he didn't know what it was all about. The bell at the end of the second saved Rogers from getting up from the floor which he kissed as the result of a terrific sock. His seconds revived him in the interval and from that time on he got better, in fact he was fresher at the conclusion than the Argentine. Curi didn't have the lasting quality and his punches during the latter stanzas lacked power. Rogers, on the other hand performed on the punching bag, Curi being the bag. The black boy, who is said to be 19 years old, has possibilities and is not afraid to take a few. He can hit and experience should make him into a real battler.

Opening Bout a Draw.

Vic Morosco of New York and Augie Vaglico opened the card with a six-round bout, which was declared a draw. There was little to choose between the fighters, each putting up a good scrap. Vaglico was said to have a slight weight advantage but he appeared to be the smaller man. Morosco did the fighting but he didn't do the thinking. Every time the boys closed up, Morosco looked to his seconds for an idea, which didn't help any, because he didn't have time to go into conference. However it was a good scrap.

Summary.

Vic Morosco of New York vs. Augie Vaglico, six rounds, a draw.
Humberto Curi of Argentina vs. J. D. Rogers of Texas, negro, six rounds. Rogers given decision.
Frank Goosby of California, negro, vs. Eddie Frico of Newburgh, six rounds, a draw.
Dodo Jackson of Long Island, negro, vs. Eddie Frisco of Newburgh, rounds. Jackson given decision.

McCARTHY WANTS CUBS TO CLINCH THE BUNTING

Chicago, Sept. 7 (AP).—"Full steam ahead" remains Manager Joe McCarthy's order to his pennant-bound Cubs.

Instead of coasting with their 12½ game lead over the second place Pirates, McCarthy wants his players to hurry up and clinch the bunting.

"Then we can do some experimenting for those Athletics and get some well-earned rest," Joe advised.

Hack Wilson, chubby outfielder, is one who is craving rest. His feet are bothering him.

New Physical Director.

Guy Allen, physical director of the Olean, N. Y., Y. M. C. A., has been appointed to a similar position at the Kingston Y. M. C. A.

Averages in the National League

New York, Sept. 7 (AP).—The mad scramble between Babe Herman of Brooklyn and Frank O'Doul of Philadelphia for the National League batting championship has tightened to the point where four figures are necessary to reveal any difference between them. The Brooklyn swatsmith shades his Philadelphia rival by .3926 to .3925 in this week's averages, issued today and including games of last Wednesday. Bill Terry of New York who has slowed up a bit, owns a mark of .379.

Other leading regulars are: Traynor, Pittsburgh, .371; Hornsby, Chicago, .363; L. Waner, Pittsburgh, .357; Stephenson, Chicago, .355; Klein, Philadelphia, .353; Hendrick, Brooklyn, .351; and Frisch, St. Louis, .348.

Hornsby leads in runs scored with 130 and Ott of New York in runs batted in with 133. O'Doul has 210 hits, the largest total, and Frederick sets the pace with 48 doubles. L. Waner leads with 16 triples and Klein with 37 home runs. Cuyler has 34 stolen bases, the high mark in that activity.

Guy Bush, the Chicago ace, is finding his nineteenth victory difficult, but he still leads the league with 18 games won and only four lost for a percentage of .818. Burleigh Grimes, the Pittsburgh spitter, is only half a game away with seventeen and four for .810.

The Phillies, the Cubs and the Pirates are in the .300 class in team batting, the Phils leading with .309. The other two are tied at .304. The Cubs top the list in the field with .975, one point more than the Giants and the Reds show in a tie for second place.

ONE FOREIGN PLAYER THREATENS AMERICAN STARS

Forest Hills, N. Y., Sept. 7 (AP).—Only one foreign player seems to stand in the way of an American victory in the National Tennis Singles Championship.

He is Henry W. (Bunny) Austin of England, who has made tremendous strides in the game in the past year. There are other foreign contenders, including Austin's compatriots, John S. Oliff and E. R. Avory, the South African, Norman G. Farquharson; the Cuban, German Upmann; and the Greek, G. M. Pappadopoulos, but Austin is the only one of these that seems to have any chance of reaching the final round.

As a matter of fact there is considerable doubt whether Austin can get that far, for he is in the same half of the draw as such American luminaries as Big Bill Tilden, Berkeley Bell of Austin, Texas; John Van Ryn of East Orange, N. J., and John Doeg of Santa Monica, Cal.

Pre-championship calculation forecasts a final round meeting between Tilden and George Lott of Chicago, with Big Bill favored to win the title for the seventh time.

Championship play opens today with first and second round matches.

With the 156th At Pine Camp

Sham Battle Gives the Boys a Thrill and Plenty of Hard Work—Ride Eight Miles in Sand Storm—"Enemy" is Wiped Out.

Pine Camp, N. Y., Sept. 7.—National Guardsmen here got a taste of real war on Tuesday and Wednesday, when they shelled the range with French 75's in a manner that brought much favorable comment from the regular army officers in charge of checking the firing. Officers in command of the Kingston batteries, who directed the attack, were highly praised for the proficiency.

The mock battle, which was in the form of a barrage to protect advancing infantrymen, gave the artillerymen practical experience. Preparing for the battle was done under wartime conditions which made the whole day's work very realistic.

Horses Terrified by Sand Storm.

At 7 a. m. Tuesday the artillery started from Pine Camp in a veritable sand storm, the wind blowing at an unusually high velocity and sending clouds of sand into the air until the column of horses, men and guns were hardly visible. The adverse conditions prevailed over an eight-mile ride, which was a hard one for officers and servicemen. Not only did they have to ride through the blowing sand, but were forced to put forth much energy in restraining the unruly animals, terrified by the experience.

The Kingston boys proved themselves typical soldiers and real horsemen and greatly pleased Major O. R. Hiltebrant, their commander. The major picked a spot from which firing was to be conducted and the men wasted no time in setting up their guns for the war. Their speed brought forth much comment from the regular army officers, Major Taliferro and Captain Faulconer, in charge of the day's proceedings.

After the field pieces had been placed the horses were driven to a spot of concealment in the woodland bordering the field of battle. Captain C. S. Preston had charge of this detail and needless to say, the men under him did the job in first class shape. Not alone did the animals have to be made ready for a test period but had to be fed and watered.

With everything set for battle the officers in charge of the Kingston Guardsmen took the observation point and began to hurl firing data to the cannoneers in the field. Word was sent over a telephone line strung by members of the combat train, under the direction of Second Lieutenant William S. Salisbury. This branch of the National Guard is one of the many that teaches practical things so beneficial to the youth of today.

Best Ever Done at Pine Camp.

The men behind the guns carried out instructions from the observation point with such accuracy that the range was cleared of targets in record time. Their skill at speedily carrying out instructions and the Kingston officers ability to work firing problems drew most favorable comment from federal instructors in charge of the work. It was graded as the best ever done at Pine Camp.

Kingston officers directing fire were Captains E. L. Cashin, E. C. Lawson; Lieutenants H. A. Pekin, B. V. Roach, Isaac Lawrence, Ernest A. Steuding, Carl Eckert, Paul E. Barnum and William S. Salisbury. Major O. R. Hiltebrant and Captain Charles Behrens, his adjutant, assisted federal officers in scoring.

Camp on the Battle Field.

When the battle was over the soldiers made camp for the night. They did not go to their regular quarters but picked a spot near the battle field for their bivouac. Tents were erected and the men crawled in for a good night's sleep after enjoying a hearty field supper and a jolly evening.

At the first sign of dawn the soldiers were at it again and finished using their ammunition. It was 3 p. m., Wednesday when the battle ceased. They made for camp and pulled into the gun park at about 6:30 dirty, tired and very hungry. A big supper was awaiting them and everyone enjoyed it after first taking a soothing shower bath. The boys retired for another day on the range after they were entertained by a concert which was given by the 156th Field Artillery Band.

The mock battle was the hardest assignment given the boys since their arrival at Pine Camp, but the experience was well worth the effort. On the other hand it was real fun destroying an imaginary enemy. The men got a big thrill clearing the range of targets just as an enemy would be wiped out during a real battle.

A Valuable Experience.

Those who were on the bivouac said they valued the experience very highly and wished that their friends could see what the National Guard has to offer along educational lines. If civilians could see what the Guardsmen accomplish in their two weeks of summer training, they would realize what an important thing the National Guard is and that its functions are not child's play.

Kingston has sent some real soldier to Pine Camp this year and they are putting the city on the National Guard map in every sense of the word.

Market for Fruits And Vegetables

New York, Sept. 7 (AP).—(State Department of Agriculture and Markets)—Yesterday's quotations largely prevailed on the wholesale produce market today. Receipts are usually light and merchants and jobbers are satisfied if perishables sell at the previous day's prices.

Fancy tomatoes were stronger. Poorer grades received scant attention and then only at lower prices. Receipts were light.

Cauliflower was plentiful from New York and Colorado. Yesterday's prices were easily maintained.

The apple market showed no appreciable change from the previous day. Fancy large fruit met a moderate outlet but off-grade and small dragged. Western New York barrelled U. S. Grade No. 1, 2½ inch Wealthies wholesaled at $5.

Clapp's Favorite pears in bushel baskets jobbed out at $2.75 to $3 for No. 1 stock.

The cabbage market continued dull and slow. Western New York white cabbage was in moderate supply, and brought mostly $40 to $45 per ton. Per sack of eighty pounds store sales were made at $2.

Receipts of lettuce were light to moderate. The bulk was undergrade. The market continued weak. Crates of 24 heads of New York state lettuce ranged from 59 cents to $1.25, mostly, however, 75 cents to $1.

Receipts of celery were light and price changes were unimportant. Stock in the rough from western New York sold at $1.75-$2.50, mostly at $2-$2.25 per two-thirds crate.

News from the World on Wheels

Although automobile sales generally reach their peak during the spring months, the reverse is true in the case of strictly chauffeur-driven models, according to George E. Willis, vice president in charge of the Peirce-Arrow Motor Car Company. "For example," said Mr. Willis, "the type known as the Enclosed Drive Limousine, which was originated by Pierce-Arrow a number of years ago, is bought in greatest numbers during the month of September. While this is an all-season, all-purpose model, its use for formal social occasions of winter months undoubtedly brings demand to a peak in the early fall." Pierce-Arrow this year is building the Enclosed Drive Limousine in two models. One is mounted on the 133-inch chassis, while the larger and more luxurious type is of the 143-inch Custom Group. Both are powered by Pierce-Arrow's new 125-horsepower Straight Eight engine.

Despite the usual late summer slump in the automotive industry generally, the Franklin Automobile Company of Syracuse, N. Y., during August broke all previous shipping and sales records for this month and continued the sensational pace which has marked the company's trade and financial expansion since the first of the year. The Franklin Company shipped 1,150 cars during the month which compares with shipments of 755 cars during August of last year. The largest previous August was in 1917, when the company shipped 1,133 cars. Even more significant than the shipment figures are the total number of cars sold at retail during the month. This year, there were approximately 1,000 Franklin cars sold at retail as compared with 810 cars sold during the largest previous August. The company's total shipments for the first eight months of the year reached 11,201 cars as compared with 10,566 cars in the largest previous year.

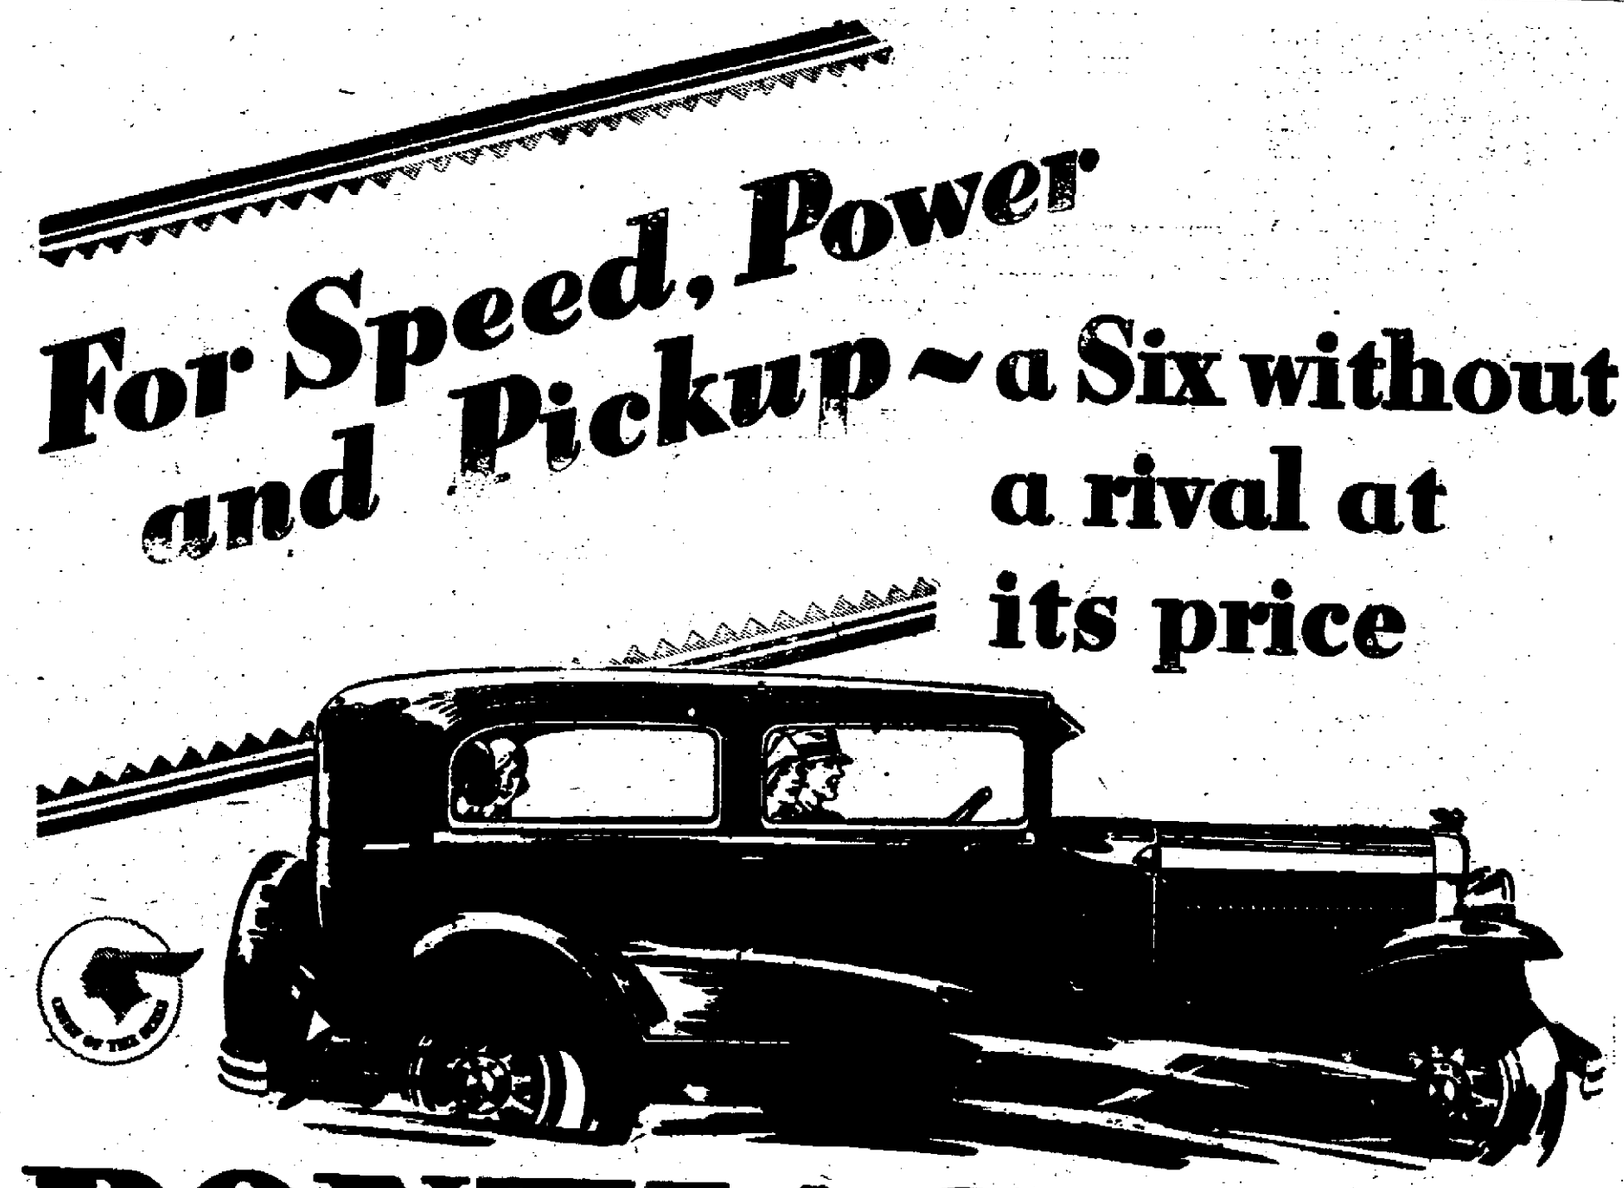
For Speed, Power and Pickup ~ a Six without a rival at its price



PONTIAC BIG SIX at $745

PRODUCT OF GENERAL MOTORS

Without a single exception, the Pontiac Big Six is the fastest, most powerful six of its price offered to the motoring public today. Its sturdy, 200 cubic inch, L-head engine develops 60 brake horsepower at the moderate engine speed of 3000 r. p. m. Its top speed is the highest to be found in any low-priced six, according to the "fifth wheel"—most accurate speed measuring device known to automotive engineers. The same instrument proves it to be the fastest accelerating six in its entire price group. And, furthermore, it offers the incomparable smoothness and the unrivaled reliability which follow the use of such features as the Harmonic Balancer to counteract torsional vibration in the crankshaft, crankcase ventilation to maintain the quality of engine oil, and airplane-type interchangeable, bronze-backed main bearings. Unquestionably, today's Pontiac Big Six is the performance leader of its price field—

With these qualities in addition, to assure you greater value

Greater STYLE
Specially designed bodies by Fisher with the exclusive one-piece bolt moulding. A variety of the season's smartest color combinations in lustrous, long-wearing Duco. A distinctive radiator design. Flaring fenders. 70 inches across. All bright metal finished in gleaming, stainless chrome plate.

Greater CONVENIENCE
Driver's seat adjustable as you drive. Easily regulated VV-type windshield. Foot-controlled headlights. Cross-flow radiator with automatic temperature control—no hand operated shutters to bother with. Coincidental lock—one turn of the key locks both ignition and transmission.

Greater LONG LIFE
Assured by such features as Pontiac's full pressure lubricating system which supplies the engine with correct lubrication for any speed—the crankcase ventilating system—special moulded non-squeak brake linings which often operate for more than 30,000 miles without replacement—sturdy hardwood and steel body construction—and dozens of others of equal importance.

Greater ECONOMY
Proved by the records of a large public utilities corporation, which operated 996 automobiles of 33 different makes during 1928. Pontiac actually costs one cent less per mile to operate than any other low-priced six.

f. o. b. Pontiac, Michigan
Five-Passenger 2-Door Sedan
Body by Fisher

If you are interested in a car costing anywhere near Pontiac's price, your own interests demand that you see and drive today's Pontiac Big Six. And when you come in, bring your present car for our appraisal. Its value will probably cover the down payment, leaving only a few dollars per month to pay. And, as you pay, you will be enjoying the finest car of its price the market affords.

Pontiac Big Six, $745 to $895, f. o. b. Pontiac, Mich., plus delivery charges. Bumpers, spring covers and Lovejoy shock absorbers regular equipment at slight extra cost. General Motors Time Payment Plan available at minimum rate.

Consider the delivered price as well as the list (f. o. b.) price when comparing automobile values . . . Oakland-Pontiac delivered prices include only authorized charges for freight and delivery and the charge for any additional accessories or financing desired.
